Cover and Illustrations by Duncan Smith
Handy adventurer that you are, you have never been known to quail at a little danger. But you're no fool. You've always been far too wise to risk entering the dreaded Scorpion Swamp, infamous for the tangle of treacherous paths which cross-cress its slimy depths. The creatures that live in Scorpion Swamp have given rise to the most nightmarish legends.

But now Scorpion Swamp holds out the lure of treasure and glory — and the choice of serving three wizards, each with a mission. YOU cannot resist the challenge!

Two dice, a pencil and an eraser are all you need to embark on this thrilling adventure of sword and sorcery, complete with its elaborate combat system and a score sheet to record your gains and losses.

Many dangers lie ahead and your success is by no means certain. Powerful adversaries are ranged against you and often your only choice is to kill or be killed!

HOW TO FIGHT THE CREATURES OF SCORPION SWAMP

Before embarking on your adventure, you must first determine your own strengths and weaknesses. You have in your possession a sword and a chain-mail shirt, as well as a few pieces of gold for incidental expenses. You have been preparing for your quest by training yourself in swordplay and exercising vigorously to build up your stamina.

To see how effective your preparations have been, you must use the dice to determine your initial skill and stamina scores. On pages 24–5 there is an Adventure Sheet which you may use to record the details of an adventure. On it you will find boxes for recording your skill and stamina scores.

You are advised to either record your scores on the Adventure Sheet in pencil, or make photocopies of the page to use in future adventures.

Skill, Stamina and Luck

Roll one die. Add 6 to this number and enter this total in the skill box on the Adventure Sheet.

Roll both dice. Add 12 to the number rolled and enter this total in the stamina box.
There is also a luck box. Roll one die, add 6 to this number and enter this total in the luck box.

For reasons that will be explained below, skill, stamina and luck scores change constantly during an adventure. You must keep an accurate record of these scores and for this reason you are advised either to write small in the boxes or to keep an eraser handy. But never rub out your initial scores. Although you may be awarded additional skill, stamina and luck points, these totals may never exceed your initial scores.

Your skill score reflects your swordsmanship and general fighting expertise; the higher the better. Your stamina score reflects your general constitution, your will to survive, your determination and overall fitness; the higher your stamina score, the longer you will be able to survive. Your luck score indicates how naturally lucky a person you are. Luck and magic are facts of life in the fantasy kingdom you are about to explore.

Battles

You will often come across pages in the book which instruct you to fight a creature of some sort. An option to flee may be given, but if not or if you choose to attack the creature anyway — you must resolve the battle as described below.

First record the creature's skill and stamina scores in the first vacant Monster Encounter Box on your Adventure Sheet. The scores for each creature are given in the book each time you have an encounter.

The sequence of combat is then:

1. Roll both dice once for the creature. Add its skill score. This total is the creature’s attack strength.
2. Roll both dice once for yourself. Add the number rolled to your current skill score. This total is your attack strength.
3. If your attack strength is higher than that of the creature, you have wounded it. Proceed to step 4.
4. If the creature’s attack strength is higher than yours, it has wounded you. Proceed to step 5.
5. If both attack strength totals are the same, you have avoided each other’s blows — start the next attack round from step 1 above.
6. You have wounded the creature, so subtract 2 points from its stamina score. You may use your luck here to do additional damage (see over).
7. The creature has wounded you, so subtract 2 points from your own stamina score. Again you may use luck at this stage (see over).
8. Make the appropriate adjustments to either the creature’s or your own stamina scores (and your luck score if you used luck — see over).
9. Begin the next attack round by returning to your current skill score and repeating steps 1–6. This sequence continues until the stamina score of either you or the creature you are fighting has been reduced to zero (death).
Escaping

On some pages you may be given the option of running away from a battle should things be going badly for you. However, if you do run away, the creature automatically gets in one wound on you (subtract 2 stamina points) as you flee. Such is the price of cowardice. Note that you may use luck on this wound in the normal way (see below). You may only Escape if that option is specifically given to you on the page. If you Escape, do not discard the records for the monster(s) you were fighting. Should you return to that clearing, it is possible that your foe(s) will still be there - and you may have to take up the combat where you left off.

Fighting More Than One Creature

If you come across more than one creature in a particular encounter, the instructions on that page will tell you how to handle the battle. Sometimes you will treat them as a single monster; sometimes you will fight each one in turn.

Luck

At various times during your adventure, either in battles or when you come across situations in which you could either be lucky or unlucky (details of these are given on the pages themselves), you may call on your luck to make the outcome more favourable. But beware! Using luck is a risky business and if you are unlucky, the results could be disastrous.

The procedure for using your luck is as follows: roll two dice. If the number rolled is equal to or less than your current luck score, you have been Lucky and the result will go in your favour. If the number rolled is higher than your current luck score, you have been Unlucky and you will be penalized.

This procedure is known as Testing your Luck. Each time you Test your Luck, you must subtract one point from your current luck score. Thus you will soon realize that the more you rely on your luck, the more risky this will become.

Using Luck in Battles

On certain pages of the book you will be told to Test your Luck and will be told the consequences of your being Lucky or Unlucky. However, in battles, you always have the option of using your luck either to inflict a more serious wound on a creature you have just wounded, or to minimize the effects of a wound the creature has just inflicted on you.

If you have just wounded the creature, you may Test your Luck as described above. If you are Lucky, you have inflicted a severe wound and may subtract an extra 2 points from the creature's stamina score. However, if you are Unlucky, the wound was a mere graze and you must restore 1 point to the creature's stamina (i.e. instead of scoring the normal 2 points of damage, you have now scored only 1).
If the creature has just wounded you, you may Test your Luck to try to minimize the wound. If you are Lucky, you have managed to avoid the full damage of the blow. Restore 1 point of stamina (i.e. instead of doing 2 points of damage it has done only 1). If you are Unlucky, you have taken a more serious blow. Subtract 1 extra stamina point.

Remember that you must subtract 1 point from your luck score each time you Test your Luck.

Remember also that your stamina score may never exceed its initial value. A stamina spell (see later) will restore lost stamina points.

Restoring Skill, Stamina and Luck

Skill

Your skill score will not change much during your adventure. Occasionally, a page may give instructions to increase or decrease your skill score. A Magic Weapon may increase your skill, but remember that only one weapon can be used at a time! You cannot claim 2 skill bonuses for carrying two Magic Swords. Your skill score can never exceed its initial value. A skill spell (see later) will restore lost skill points.

Stamina and Provisions

Your stamina score will change a lot during your adventure as you fight monsters and undertake arduous tasks. As you near your goal, your stamina level may be dangerously low and battles may be particularly risky, so be careful!
EQUIPMENT

You will start your adventure with a bare minimum of equipment, but you may find or buy other items during your travels. You are armed with a sword and are dressed in chainmail. You have a backpack to hold any treasures you may come across.

MAGIC

You will play a fighter in Scorpion Swamp. However, you will almost certainly find yourself given the power to cast magical spells before the adventure is over. If you deal with a wizard, he may give you Spell Gems. Each gem gives its owner the power to cast one spell one time. Then the gem vanishes.

There are twelve different magic spells that you may be able to use; they are described below. When you acquire a Spell Gem, mark it on your Adventure Sheet. If you have the chance to choose which spells you get, you may choose any kind of spell more than once—for instance, you could choose four Fire spells if you wanted to. Once a spell is used, though, you must mark it off on your Adventure Sheet. If you choose four Fire spells, you can cast Fire four times, but no more—unless you meet another helpful wizard later and acquire more Spell Gems.

Magic spells are divided into three types: Good, Evil, and Neutral. Anyone may use Neutral spells. However, good wizards may not cast Evil spells, and vice versa. You may use any spell that you can get... but you will not be able to get Good spells from an evil wizard, or Evil spells from a good wizard.
Neutral Spells

SKILL. When you cast this spell on yourself, it restores lost SKILL points equal to half your Initial SKILL score, rounded up. It cannot raise your SKILL score past its Initial level.

STAMINA. When you cast this spell on yourself, it restores lost STAMINA points equal to half your Initial STAMINA score, rounded up. It cannot raise your STAMINA score past its Initial level.

LUCK. When you cast this spell on yourself, it restores lost LUCK points equal to half your Initial LUCK score, rounded up. It cannot raise your LUCK score past its Initial level.

FIRE. This spell will set one medium-sized object (like a torch) on fire. The more inflammable the object, the better the spell will work.

ICE. This spell works by freezing water (or water vapour) into ice. It works best where there is water already present to be frozen.

ILLUSION. This spell will let you create one small, short-lived illusion. If you act in a way contrary to the illusion, the illusion will cease to fool anyone else and will be dispelled.

Good Spells

FRIENDSHIP. This spell will make one creature better disposed towards you. But it will not work on anyone or anything that cannot understand the idea of friendship.

GROWTH. This spell will accelerate the growth of one large plant or several smaller ones. It will not affect anything but plants.

BLESSED. This spell may only be cast on another being – you cannot Bless yourself. It restores lost SKILL, LUCK, and STAMINA points to the creature that you Bless. Three points are added to each, but in no case may the spell increase anyone's points past their Initial level.

Evil Spells

FEAR. This spell will make one creature fear you - provided that it is a creature capable of feeling fear!

WITHERING. This spell will cause one large plant, or several small ones, to wither. It will not affect anything but plants.

CURSE. This is a very powerful spell, and not to be used lightly. When you cast a Curse, you immediately roll one die and lose that many STAMINA points. However, something terrible – there is no telling what – will immediately befall your enemy, too.
When to Cast Spells

You may cast one of your skill, stamina, or luck spells upon yourself at any time except during combat. You may cast a spell on yourself just before a battle starts... but once the first blow has been struck, you may not use magic until the fight is over.

Other spells may only be cast when a paragraph specifically gives you the option of doing so.

MAPPING

As you play, you will travel along the network of pathways that make up Scorpion Swamp. You will want to draw a map as you go. Unlike most adventures, Scorpion Swamp allows you to retrace your steps. A good map may spell the difference between life and death!

Most of your adventures will take place in clearings within the swamp. Each clearing has a number to aid you in mapping. Each clearing connects to one or more paths leading out. Paths may lead to the north, south, east or west. A path may bend about, but it will always keep the same general direction. This is important. It means that if you leave one clearing by the southern path, you will enter the next clearing from the north, and vice versa. This will keep you from doubling back accidentally.

When you reach a clearing, make a note of the direction in which you are travelling; it might be useful later.

In some of the clearings, you will meet people and creatures. Some of them can help you; others will attack you or hinder you in some way. It is up to you to decide how to handle each encounter.

It may happen that, in your wanderings, you will return to the same clearing again. In that case, you may find instructions in italic type. These instructions tell you what to do if you have already visited that clearing.

If there are no special instructions, you will proceed in the usual way each time you come to that clearing.

Here is a map of an imaginary part of the swamp, to give you some help in making your own maps:

As you can see, this player has marked the number of each clearing, and made notes about what he found there. He has also indicated the paths out of each clearing, so if he returns later he will know in advance in which direction he will be able to travel.

There are three possible quests in Scorpion Swamp. For each of the quests, there is one true path that is the best to follow. Make notes and keep your map faithfully. It may save your life, and, in any event, it will be invaluable in future adventures, enabling you to progress rapidly through to unexplored sections.

Not all clearings contain treasure; some merely contain traps and creatures which you will no doubt fall foul of. Many wrong turnings are possible, and even if you reach your ultimate destination, you may not find what you are searching for.

It will be realized that entries make no sense if read in numerical order. It is essential that you read only the entries you are instructed to read.

The one true way on each quest involves a minimum of risk and any player, no matter how weak on initial dice rolls, should be able to get through fairly easily once the best path has been discovered.

May the luck of the gods go with you on the adventure ahead!

BACKGROUND

Hardy adventurer that you are, you have never been known to quail at a little danger. But you're no fool. You've always been far too wise to venture into Scorpion Swamp. All your life you've heard tales of that awful marsh and its disgusting denizens. But the real danger of the swamp, so the tales go, is not the creatures that inhabit it, nor even the magicians and wicked men who haunt its paths.

No, the reason that so few return from Scorpion Swamp is very simple. The swamp is criss-crossed by numerous trails that twist and turn in all directions. No one has ever mapped them and lived to tell the tale. An evil fog hides the sky, so no one can set a course by the stars. Once you're well into the swamp, even compasses are unreliable. They may point north, west, or south-by-south-east, leading you around in circles until you drop from exhaustion.

So you've stayed well away from the swamp-lands. But although you don't know it yet, something is about to happen to change your fortunes.

As you walk along the King's highway, you come upon an old woman, crumpled in the dust. You carry her into the shade and give her a drink from your water-skin. She soon revives, but you walk with her to the next town, just to make sure that she will be all right.

You take your leave of her in the town market-place. 'Bless you for your kindness,' she says, when you part. 'Wear this with my good wishes, and may you never lose your way.' With that, she gives you a plain-looking Brass Ring. When you slip it on your finger, smiling your thanks, it feels loose. An hour later, as you walk down the highway again, you realize that it has altered its shape to fit you perfectly. You have a magic ring!

As you travel, you learn more about the Brass Ring's powers. The old woman must have been a powerful Witch, and she meant her blessing seriously. While you are wearing the Brass Ring, you will always know which way is North. Even in the deepest forest or in the twistiest town street, you will never be lost. Furthermore, the Brass Ring grows warm on your finger in the presence of evil, even when you are greeted in a friendly fashion. You spend a week with the forest bandits ..., rough men, but honest in their way ..., and the Ring is cool. But in the caverns, it warns you of evil magic and of foul undead. And in the towns, you find that no clever thief or lying merchant can fool you. The old woman's gift is valuable indeed to an adventurer like you!

Now you feel as though you ought to put the Brass Ring to some use worthy of its magic. Exploring Scorpion Swamp, with its unmapped maze of trails,
The path that you must travel is a long one, for Scorpion Swamp lies to the far west of the kingdom. As you travel, you have many experiences that a less seasoned traveller would call adventures. To you, fighting Orcs and Goblins, defying evil wizards, and slaying giant wolves are all in a day's work. As you travel farther west, the mountains around you turn to hills, the hills to plains, and the plains to damp lowlands. You know that Scorpion Swamp cannot be far away.

When you enter the little town of Fenmarge, no one finds you remarkable. Many travellers pass through here. Your sturdy helmet and sharp sword indicate you are a fighter not to be trifled with, but this is not uncommon.

But when, sitting in the local tavern, you announce your plan to explore the swamp, the listeners are dumbfounded. They cluster around you, pushing back the battered benches to make room. The swamp, they tell you, holds the bones of many such as you! Not only is it trackless and infested with vermin, monsters and starving bandits, but a group of wizards calling themselves the Masters have recently claimed Scorpion Swamp for their own. One of them – a big, burly man escorted by two great grey wolves – visited this very tavern last week. He didn’t say much, they tell you, but he didn’t seem the sort to welcome trespassers on his property!
As the conversation continues, you realize that the villagers are sure you will die in the swamp. 'We can't let you go!' they say. One even makes so bold as to put his calloused hand on your shoulder to restrain you as you start to walk out the door. Will you:

Challenge them for their impertinence?
Turn to 48

Politely explain that you are determined?
Turn to 95

He is fascinated by your story. Rising heavily to his feet, he walks to a small table on which a globe is standing. He spins the globe and it opens, revealing a pile of gold coins. Poomchukker smiles, as your eyes bulge. 'Will you sell it to me?' he asks. 'I will give you a hundred pieces of fine gold.' If you accept his offer, turn to 49. If you turn him down, turn to 173.

Less than a mile from the edge of the swamp, you accidentally step into a hole. Muck oozes up around your leg. You cannot pull yourself out. You put down your sword and reach for a vine and try to lever yourself up. The vine breaks and you sink in deeper. Then you hear a chittering noise behind you. You reach for your sword, but tiny, sharp teeth sink into your hand... then the rats are upon you. You cannot run or fight. Soon, as the villagers predicted, only your bones are left, gleaming in the dim light that filters down between the trees. Your adventure is over. Next time, take some more magic with you.
The wizard laughs evilly. 'I see no need to waste my strength on such as you,' he sneers. 'But you may prove your mettle against this, my servant.' He waves his hand at a STATUE OF A GOBLIN that stands in a niche against the wall. The statue moves towards you, raising its stone sword. If you fight it, turn to 284. If you attack Grimsdale himself, turn to 123.

Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 273. If you are Unlucky, turn to 297.

You return to Selator's hut. A merry fire is crackling in the kitchen, and something is cooking that smells delicious. He greets you warmly and asks, 'Have you got the berry?' If you have got the purple berry of the Antherica plant, turn to 175. If not, turn to 52.
The evil wizard's brow darkens and the designs on his robe writhe ominously. 'Well,' he mutters, 'it's better than nothing. Give me what you have, and I will give you 250 gold pieces.' If you choose to accept his offer, turn to 266. If you remind him that he had promised you more, turn to 207.

'Well, that's too bad,' he sighs. 'I'll have to find someone else. If you have any of my magic gems left, I'll trade some healing potion for them.' Will you:

- Trade your remaining spell gems for the potion? (Turn to 141)
- Explain that you have used them all? (Turn to 316)
- Attack Poomchukker? (Turn to 341)

You are on the southern edge of Scorpion Swamp. Thanks to the Brass Ring, you will always know which way is north . . . but you must still make a map! You decide to map each path you follow, and each clearing you enter, so that you will know which way to go if you return to a clearing. (For hints on mapping, see page 21.)

You quickly find a path leading north into the swamp. A huge sign, crudely painted on a boulder, reads: 'STOP! SCORPION SWAMP! TURN BACK!' A skull and cross-bones completes the grisly picture. Bravely, you stride past the warning and enter the swamp. You can see that it would be foolish to step off the path into the muck, so you follow the trail where it leads. Turn to 195.

The knotted trees give way before you and you enter another clearing. This is Clearing 5. If you have been here before, turn to 142. If you have not been here before, keep reading. You realize immediately that there has been a battle here. The ground is torn up; blood is splashed over the dank swamp-grass, and you can see two arrows sticking in a tree not far away. If you examine the clearing to see what you can find, turn to 59. If you decide to leave as quickly as possible, turn to 227.
As you walk west, the swamp becomes even grimmer. Just as you think that you can stand it no longer, the path begins to widen, and you find yourself in a long, narrow opening. This is Clearing 6. If you have been here before, turn to 210. If you have not been here before, keep reading. You look around and see no other paths; you appear to have come to a dead end. You walk towards a large grey boulder, hoping to rest on it for a minute. Suddenly, the boulder moves! You are not looking at grey stone at all, but coarse grey hair. Red eyes glare at you, and a DIRE BEAST with six clawed legs moves towards you. Will you:

Fight it? Turn to 176
Run for your life? Turn to 102
Try a magic spell? Turn to 374

The Giant bellows angrily as he fights. He is enormously strong. Luckily for you, he is not very nimble. His club rarely hits you. When it does, though, it does double damage. Look out!

GIANT

SKILL 9

STAMINA 12

If you reduce the Giant's STAMINA to 6, turn to 61. You may also try Escape during the fight, but remember that the Giant's blows are double-strength. If you try to Escape you will lose 4 STAMINA points. If you Escape alive, turn to 161.

'1am a fighter on a quest,' you reply. Your ring is not warning you of evil, so you feel safe speaking to the Master of Frogs. Are you in the service of:

Selator? Turn to 212
Grimslade? Turn to 287
Poomchukker? Turn to 376
The trail takes you to a small open spot where, years ago, a great tree fell and dragged down several others. This is Clearing 32. If you have been here before, turn to 338. If you have not been here before, keep reading. As you approach, you hear the sound of fighting. You step round a tree to see a GIANT SCORPION fighting a Dwarf who is wearing leather armour. The Dwarf is in trouble. As you rush towards the fight, the Scorpion catches the Dwarf’s neck in one of its claws and throws him to the ground, where he lies still. You doubt that you have any magic spells which would be worth using on this enemy. If you leave the clearing while the monster feasts on the Dwarf, turn to 88. If you attack the Giant Scorpion, turn to 312.

What bribe will you offer him?

- A Golden Magnet? Turn to 63
- An Amulet belonging to one of the other Masters? Turn to 198
- A huge Violet Jewel? Turn to 276
- None of these? Turn to 212 and choose again.

Something in your voice betrays you. His hands move in front of him and he looks at you quizzically. Is he reading your mind? Turn to 198.
17
If this man is evil, you want nothing to do with him. You stride past him towards an exit. As you leave the clearing, a garrotte whips around your neck. You struggle, but the Thief chokes you with the garrotte and you fall unconscious. Lose 3 STAMINA points. When you awake, you feel sick and dizzy. All your spell gems and other magic items are gone, and there is no sign of the Thief. Turn to 179.

18
When they see you charging towards them, waving your sword, their nerve breaks. All five of the Brigands dive into the trees at the side of the clearing. You do not stop for an instant; you run through the clearing shouting and out on to the pathway at the other end. The Brigands are too stunned to think of pursuing you. Turn to 19.

19
There are two paths leading out of the clearing. The northern one is much wider and more distinct, as though many had travelled along it. Will you go:

North? Turn to 280
East? Turn to 137

20
The berry tastes delicious. You feel a sense of well-being run through your body. Regain 2 STAMINA points and 1 LUCK point. You find nothing else of interest here. Turn to 342.

21
You relax for a few minutes. Regain 1 STAMINA point. Then you hear a whuffling sound coming from the tree. If you want to see who or what is in the tree, turn to 55. If you would rather not know, turn to 390.

22
Even as you pocket the seeds, you see new growth stirring at the base of the trees. You leave quickly. Will you go:

North? Turn to 320
South? Turn to 90
West? Turn to 11
23

The Brass Ring feels cold; you know that the Mistress of Birds is a good wizard. You explain your quest and ask for her help. She shakes her head. 'That merchant is very foolish. Even if he gets his map of the swamp, some of my brother wizards are evil and will try to plunder his caravans. But you are brave, and I will help you to avoid the worst part of your journey.' Turn to 248.

24

The Will-o'-the-wisp dances ahead of you, and you follow. The ground gets wetter and wetter. Suddenly, you fall into a mud-hole! Abruptly, the Will-o'-the-wisp vanishes. It exists only to lure unwary travellers into danger. Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, you get out of the mud-hole safely. If you are Unlucky, you lose 2 points of STAMINA in your struggles, but eventually you are standing on solid ground. If it were not for your Brass Ring, you would be hopelessly lost. As it is, you know which way to walk to find the clearing. Turn to 249.

25

The Eagle gives a great cry and circles the clearing once; then it flies to its nest. You are happy to leave it in peace! Turn to 202.

26

You sense that the Master of Spiders is wholly and foully evil, and you attack him with your sword. He counter-attacks with a gleaming wand. You see that its tip is sharply pointed, and smeared with a foul greenish substance. Each time the wand strikes you, it does 1 extra point of damage to your STAMINA score.

MASTER OF SPIDERS skill 1.9

STAMINA 6

If you kill him, turn to 354.
27

Gronar tells you to seek out Poomchukker in the village market. As soon as you enter the tangle of streets and shops, you are lost. You ask for directions several times, and eventually a group of laughing young boys escorts you to a large house on the edge of the market. You knock on the door — and it is answered by a Goblin! Not a Goblin warrior like those whom you have fought, but a Goblin serving-girl. She escorts you to a library where Poomchukker sits. He is one of the oddest men you have ever seen ... very tall and immensely fat, with an elaborately braided beard and bright red skin! You tell him your story and ask if he is looking for someone like you. ‘Yes, I am,’ he rumbles. ‘But what makes you think you can live in Scorpion Swamp when so many others have died there?’ If you tell him about the old woman and the powers of the Brass Ring you wear, turn to 2. If you simply smile and say you are a skilled fighter, turn to 173.

28

There are several Sword Trees, but you may fight them as a single opponent. You are lucky in that they cannot see you — they attack by sound. However, there are several trees, each with many bladed branches.

SWORD TREES SKILL 9 STAMINA 12

If you defeat them, turn to 362. Otherwise, you will no doubt become fertilizer for the trees . . .
29
You know that it would be foolish to tell this man that you serve an evil wizard. 'I serve the forces of Good,' you reply, 'but right now I only want to find my way out of this swamp. I am looking for one of the wizards called the Masters.' Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 185. If you are Unlucky, turn to 378.

30
It is a long way down, and you jump as carefully as you can. You throw your boots and your pack down first; then you dive. To your horror, you find that the water is shallow and the bottom is muddy. You are stuck! You manage to struggle free, but when you reach the surface you see the open jaws of a Crocodile, ready to take you in. You grab your sword, but it's too late: the jaws are the last thing you see. Your adventure is over.

31
As you walk along, you sense that you are far to the east of the point where you entered the swamp. You wonder if you have taken the right paths. Suddenly, you step into a grassy glade. This is Clearing 21. If you have been here before, turn to 364. If not, keep reading. There is a crystalline pool in the middle of the clearing, with an inviting sandy beach to one side. There are no other paths leading out. Will you:

- Leave and go back to the west? Turn to 47
- Watch a while for danger? Turn to 394
- Drink from the pool? Turn to 77

32
You chop at the flowers with your sword, but there are more of them than you can destroy. You are rapidly exhausting yourself. Lose 2 STAMINA points and 1 SKILL point. If you give up and run away, turn to 269. If you try a magic spell, turn to 80.

33
You hurry across the clearing, hoping to forestall another attack by the Crab Grass. But it grows up in front of you even faster this time, blocking your way. The green nippers reach out hungrily for you. If you chop at it with your sword, turn to 134. If you use magic, turn to 167.
34
Which spell will you use against the Pool Beast?
Wither? Turn to 237
Fire? Turn to 291
Fear? Turn to 356
None of these? Turn to 209 and choose again.

35
These two arrows are also badly aimed— but they curve around and hit your backpack! Only one penetrates, doing little harm. You lose 1 stamina point. You realize that the Golden Magnet is cursed, and attracts arrows... you are lucky that you put it in your pack instead of wearing it! Will you:
Attack with your sword? Turn to 281
Use a magic spell? Turn to 399
Run for your life? Turn to 309

36
You tell the Master of Gardens about your quest. If you have already found the Antherica bush, turn to 283. If you have not found it, turn to 396.

37
If you tell the truth about your quest, turn to 292. If you make up a story and chat for a while, turn to 220.

38
The Slime is dead; its remains melt and putrefy while you are watching. The smell is unbearable. Turn to 153.

39
You cast the Friendship spell on the Unicorn. It gazes at you warily; it has little trust in humans. But the spell evidently has some effect, for the Unicorn eventually lowers its head and starts to crop the grass in the clearing. Turn to 348.
You control your fear and approach the gloomy tower. Bats circle around the upper storey. As you step towards the great iron door, you see a hideous face sculpted on it. Then the door swings open before you! Grimsland stands waiting. He is tall and skeletal thin. The crimson designs on his black robe seem to glow. He greets you pleasantly, but your ring, hot on your finger, continues to warn you that you are in the presence of evil. ‘I know all about you,’ he says. ‘You want to explore the swamp? I that meddling fool Gronar sent you here. But what makes you think you are worthy of my time? I need a hero who is afraid of nothing.’ Will you:

Challenge him to a combat? Turn to 4

Explain that you are a hardy warrior and that your magic ring will prevent you from losing your way? Turn to 50

Smile and say that you fear nothing? Turn to 97

You enter a flat clearing surrounded by trees covered in ivy. This is Clearing 30. If you have been here before, turn to 382. If you have not been here before, keep reading. There seems to be nothing of interest here, so you walk towards the other exit - when you realize you are sinking into Quicksand! Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, lose 2 stamina points and turn to 270. If you are Unlucky, turn to 87.
You look through the belongings of the unfortunate Dwarf to see if there is anything that you can use. His armour, of course, is too small for you, but in his pouch you find a small vial of potion. If you drink it, turn to 253. If you leave it, turn to 88.

Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 339. If you are Unlucky, turn to 313.

You are not attacked as you wade across, but when you reach the other side, you are disgusted to find several large Leeches on your legs, drinking your blood! Roll two dice and lose as many STAMINA points as shown on the lower of the two. You may travel north or south from here. If you go north, turn to 157. If you go south, turn to 398.

You are wary of anything that seems so simple. The bridge must be a trap of some kind! You turn and go back the way you came. If you came from the north, turn to 331. If you came from the south, turn to 303.

There is nothing more you can do here unless you can get into the hut – but it appears to be magically locked, and you can find no way to open it. You decide to leave. Turn to 314.

You come upon a small, overgrown clearing. You are in Clearing 3. You look around, but you see nothing. There are three exits. Will you go:

South?
East?
West?

You clap your hand to your sword and issue a ringing challenge. They are not frightened, or even especially impressed; they merely laugh at you. ‘We are not fighting folk, only simple villagers,’ they say. ‘But one such as you, with your ready sword, indeed belongs in the great swamp, among the other seekers of trouble. We shall detain you no longer.’ You feel somewhat embarrassed. Lose 1 LUCK point for behaving aggressively towards these peaceful folk, and go to 95.
49

Greedily, you pull the Brass Ring off your finger and throw it on to the table. He counts a hundred gold pieces into a leather bag and hands it to you. You now have enough money to live on for several years, or to carouse wildly for a month or so... but you have traded it for your magic ring. You know that without its protection you dare not enter Scorpion Swamp. Your adventure is over.

50

He listens to your story with great interest. ‘A magic ring, you say?’ You nod and extend your hand so that he can see the Brass Ring gleaming on your finger. His eyes widen and he steps back from you, moving one hand in a strange pattern. You suspect that he is casting a spell! Will you:

Leap to attack him? Turn to 373
Wait to see what he is doing? Turn to 222
Turn and flee? Turn to 315

51

A pit opens in front of you, but you leap over it. You charge at full speed through the entrance hall, straight-arming another Statue as it reaches for you. You kick the door open. The hideous face upon it howls and attempts to bite you, but you are too swift. If you want to run for the swamp, turn to 296. If you head for the village, turn to 5.

52

Sadly, you have no berries to give him. You explain what happened in the swamp. Selator's face falls. ‘Well, I'm sure you did your best,’ he says. Seeing him so downcast, you offer to go back and try again, but he will not hear of it. 'The danger,' he says, 'is too great.' You did what you could, but it was not enough. Your adventure is over.
As you follow the path southward, you hear the croaking of thousands of frogs... tiny ones, huge ones, and all sizes in between. The path leads into a clearing dotted with little pools. This is Clearing 8. If you have already been here, turn to 329. If you have not been here before, keep reading. At first, all you see is a number of huge mushrooms. Then you realize that there is a man sitting on one of them. He is very short, but stout, with snapping black eyes and a wide mouth. Around his neck there hangs a silver Amulet in the shape of a frog, and sitting on the ground on either side of him are two huge green bullfrogs. 'I am the MASTER OF FROGS,' he greets you. 'What brings you to my home?' If you greet him in return, turn to 13. If you attack him, turn to 62.

His face contorts with rage, and he screeches at you, 'How dare you return empty-handed?' Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, go to 109. If you are Unlucky, go to 285.
Warily, you step over to the tree. Before you reach it, a rank odour warns you that it is the den of some large animal. You step backwards as an enormous BEAR pokes his shaggy head out of the hollow tree. If you run away, turn to 390. If you want to fight the Bear, turn to 200.

56
You make your way across the fields and along the winding roads, towards the village market-place. There stands the house of Poomchukker, just as you left it. You knock on the door, and the Goblin girl admits you. She takes you to Poomchukker's library. There he sits, swathed in a silken robe. 'Well, how did it go?' he booms. 'Did you bring me a map of the path to Willowbend?' If you reached Willowbend in your travels, turn to 158. If you did not get to Willowbend, turn to 8.

57
None of the spells you have seem quite right for this situation. You draw your sword and charge at the evil wizard. Turn to 124.

58
Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, you pick your way through to the exit you choose. If you are Unlucky, you make it, but only after tripping over a protruding root and banging your leg on a stone—subtract 1 from your STAMINA. You may now leave the clearing. Will you travel:

West?
Turn to 398
East?
Turn to 105
South?
Turn to 208
You decide to look around the clearing. Perhaps there is someone who needs your help—or something that can help you? Almost immediately you stumble over the body of a Swamp Orc. Quickly you search the loathsome carcass, but you find nothing of value. Then you see a wounded man leaning against a tree. You hasten to help him, but when you reach his side you find that he is already dead: three arrows have pierced his chest. Two more Orcs lie at his feet; they paid dearly for his life. You see no packs or weapons; the surviving Orcs must have looted the scene before leaving. You decide to give the fallen fighter what burial you can. As you do so, you see a golden pendant shaped like a small Magnet hanging round his neck. You may leave it, or add it to your possessions. Turn to 227.
60

You decide to try an illusion spell. Thinking quickly, you create the illusion of a helpless villager running for the trees in front of the Dire Beast. The blood-thirsty creature turns towards the easier prey, and you let the illusion vanish again. While the Dire Beast is preoccupied, you slip quietly down the trail back the way you came. Turn to 279.

61

'It's not fair,' the Giant cries angrily. 'First you little people steal from me, and then you come here and attack me! I never meant anybody any harm!' If you believe him, turn to 229. If you want to press the attack, you may fight to the death. If you kill the Giant, turn to 366.

62

You rush towards him with your sword raised. His eyes bulge in surprise, and he leaps off his mushroom. His jump carries him several feet backwards. He gestures towards you, and his two Frogs jump in your direction. If you run back the way you came, turn to 323. If you fight the Frogs, turn to 146.

63

You reach into your pack and offer him the Golden Magnet that you took from the dead fighter. He laughs. 'Sorry, but I don't want that. It has a curse on it! Why don't you just throw it into the pool there?' Feeling foolish, you do so. If you have another item you would like to offer him, turn to 15. If you have nothing else to offer him, turn to 212 and try another tactic.
You cast the Fire spell on the Wolves, hoping to drive them away. It works! The fur of the closest one blazes up, and both Wolves flee in panic. But the Master of Wolves is not intimidated by your spell. 'So,' he growls, 'a fighter playing with magic, eh? See how you like this.' He shakes his clenched fist at you, and you feel as if a great blow has struck your sword arm. Lose 3 Skill points and 1 Stamina point. You can see that if it comes to a duel of spells, you would be the loser... so you draw your sword and attack.

MASTER OF WOLVES

SKILL 11  STAMINA 10

If you find yourself losing, you may Escape; turn to 314. If you kill the Master of Wolves, turn to 154.
You enter a rather pleasant glade surrounded by gnarled oaks. You are in Clearing 9. If you have been here before, turn to 192. If you have not been here before, keep on reading. Leaning against a tree, eating lunch, is a small, cheerful man in dark clothes. His food is in a picnic basket. He has no visible weapons, except for the knife with which he is cutting his cheese. He notices you standing there and hails you. ‘Good day, fighter, will you share my meal?’ As he speaks, you feel the Brass Ring grow hot, warning you of evil. You realize that the man is a THIEF. Will you:

Attack him? Turn to 267
Ignore him? Turn to 17
Accept his invitation and sit down? Turn to 147

Sure enough, it is a healing mixture. You use it all, and feel your strength return. Gain 2 stamina points. Turn to 19.

You have slain the Bear. You search its den, but you find nothing of value. Turn to 390.
Your reactions are quick. You have time to decide how to deal with the Scorpions. Will you:

Stamp on them and strike with your sword? Turn to 216
Cast a Fire spell? Turn to 110
Leap over them to safety? Turn to 377

Test your Luck. If you are Unlucky, you fall down, losing 2 Stamina points, but you climb back up to the nest. If you are Lucky, you get to the nest safely. Looped about one of the branches you find a heavy Gold Chain; you may take it if you wish. You climb down and leave. Turn to 202.

You decide to combat the evil Master of Spiders with a spell. Which one will you use?

Alfraid that the noisy bird will give the alarm, you whip out your sword and behead the Parrot. It falls to the ground without a cry. From its tail you pull a few of its brightly coloured feathers. You continue forward cautiously. Turn to 149.

The ground beneath you is sticky, but you keep your footing. The Will-o'-the-wisp is still dancing in front of you. If you turn back, turn to 249. If you follow it further west, turn to 24.
You cast a Fire spell on the Sword Trees. They writhe in anger, but are not badly hurt. Turn to 28 and fight, subtracting 2 from the STAMINA of the Sword Trees before you start.

You feel revitalized. The water in the pool has healing properties. Regain 3 STAMINA points. You leave and go back to the west. Turn to 47.

You know that a Ranger is a fighter on the side of Good, and no doubt familiar with the swamp. He can be trusted with your story. He has heard of Selator, and would like to help. He offers you some healing herbs which clear your head and restore 1 lost SKILL point. If you have already found the Antherica bush, turn to 166. If not, turn to 333.

The Bent Spear is a pleasant, roomy inn. You pay the innkeeper a Gold Piece and go to your room. As soon as your head hits the pillow, you fall asleep. You wake up the next morning feeling refreshed; regain 2 STAMINA points. When you are about to leave, the innkeeper hails you. He knows that you came through Scorpion Swamp, and that you intend to return the same way. 'You must be a mighty fighter to have come through the swamp,' he says, 'and perhaps this is none of my business... but there is a wizard in the next street who might be able to sell you some spells to help you get back.' Thanking the innkeeper for his kind suggestion, you ask for directions to the wizard and leave. If you visit the wizard, turn to 156. If you strike off south across the swamp again, turn to 343.
You agree that a single combat, fought to first blood only, would be an honourable way to settle the question. You and the Brigand Leader square off. The other men crowd around you, but they do not seem treacherous - merely excited.

You have destroyed the Crab Grass; you have no doubt that it is dead. You search the clearing. On a tree, you find some scorched lettering: 'Beware of Orcs!' That is all. You leave; turn to 187.
82
The jewel looks valuable, so you draw your sword and attack the beast. It strikes at you with its rubbery tentacles.

POOII. BEAST  SKILL 8  STAMINA 10

If you want to Escape and run back to the west, turn to 330. If you kill the beast, turn to 308.

83
Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 35. If you are Unlucky, turn to 357.

84
Confident that the Master of Gardens is a friend, you tell him your business. He wishes you well, but can do little to help you. He leads you around his glade, and you see that the only path out is the one that brought you there. You take your leave of the Master of Gardens and go back to the west. Turn to 363.

85
You flee. You must go back the way you came. Turn to 153 and choose the path from which you entered this clearing.

86
Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 189. If you are Unlucky, you find nothing; turn to 348.

87
You are trapped in the Quicksand. You can feel yourself being slowly drawn down. Your only hope is to shed your armour. Working quickly, you pull it off and abandon it. Now you can pull yourself out of the Quicksand, but you must lose 2 skill points and reduce your Initial skill level by 2, because you have lost your armour. Turn to 270.
88
You leave the clearing. If you go north, turn to 121. If you go east, turn to 331.

89
You use your Ice spell to form a bridge across the river. But the river is very wide and warm, so the bridge is very slender! If you want to cross it, turn to 325. If you would rather not trust yourself to a magical bridge of ice, turn to 295 and choose again.

90
You have crossed several shallow streams, but now you are faced with a deeper one. This is Clearing 34. You see movement in the water below, and you are not sure that you care to wade across. Will you:

Use the Ice spell? Turn to 370
Use the Wither spell? Turn to 254
Wade across, very carefully? Turn to 44

91
Roll two dice. If the result is equal to or less than your STAMINA, you made the jump. Otherwise, you fell short, caught your leg in the mire, and twisted your arm slightly when you landed. Subtract 1 point from your SKILL. You may now leave the clearing. Will you travel:

West? Turn to 398
East? Turn to 105
South? Turn to 208
The path leads you northward, and gradually upward. The ground around you is somewhat drier now, and the swamp trees have been replaced by deep forest. The trees thin out ahead of you, and you see a large clearing dotted with low bushes. This is Clearing 11. If you have been here before, turn to 108. If you have not been here before, keep on reading. You stop and listen, but hear nothing. You step out into the clearing to search for more paths, suddenly you realize that you are being watched by two huge WOLVES. If you have the Wolf Amulet, turn to 344. If not, turn to 68.

You throw your Curse spell at the Master of Wolves. He clutches his throat in pain, but raises his sword nevertheless. Then you feel the effect of the Curse upon you. Roll one die and lose that many STAMINA points. If you live, you must still fight the Master of Wolves, but you can subtract 2 points from both his SKILL and STAMINA scores when you do. Turn to 120.

The trail dips down and you see swirling mist. The smell is vile and you hold your breath. But before you get out of the mist, you are forced to breathe. Lose 2 STAMINA points from the effect of the swamp fog. If you travel to the north, turn to 295. If you are going south, turn to 320.

95

The villagers shake their heads as you turn towards the door, but make no further attempts to dissuade you. But, before you reach the door, a villager blocks your path. He is a short, middle-aged fellow with a black beard cut square across the bottom. At first you take him for a farmer, but he seems more interested in you than any farmer should be! He takes your arm and leads you to a table in the corner of the tavern. The others have gone back to their chatting, and you find yourself willing to hear what this quiet man will say to you. He introduces himself as Gronar. 'If you really intend to brave the terrors of the swamp,' he says, 'you ought to have some purpose, rather than random mapping and beast-slaying.' If you agree with him, turn to 240. If you disagree, turn to 122.

96

Somehow, you cannot keep a secret from this good man. You find yourself telling him all about the Brass Ring and its powers. Turn to 371.

97

'Fine,' he replies, smiling. You see that his teeth are pointed. He waves his hand at the wall, where a STATUE OF A GOBLIN is standing. It quivers and moves towards you, brandishing a stone sword. If you want to run away, turn to 315. If you choose to fight the Statue, turn to 284.

98

You feel a dull, heavy blow land on the back of your head. You collapse at the wizard's feet, dropping your sword. Looking up, you see that he seems to have grown enormously. But in fact it is you who has shrunk to the size of an insect! You flee, tripping over your own legs as you run. He laughs and lets you go. You run up the wall and hide in a crack, and Grimsdale goes about his business. Eventually, you become hungry. You spin a web and hope for a tasty fly. Already you are forgetting your former life. Your adventure is over.
You hand Grimsdale the Amulets for which you braved Scorpion Swamp. He takes them from you, smirking nastily. Stepping out of the room, he returns with a small but heavy pouch. He tosses it to you, and you hear the clink of coins. "Begone," he says, "and do not return, for I am done with you." Turn to 242.

Tired and battered, you leave Poomchukker's mansion and head for the inn. You did not succeed in your quest, but at least you escaped with your life. Perhaps you will return another day. For now, your adventure is over.

The bridge is old but in good repair. If you choose to travel north, turn to 350. If you would rather go south, turn to 118.

Although you have a head start, you soon hear the Dire Beast gaining on you. Lose 1 point of STAMINA. Turn back to 11 and choose another tactic.

You explain your quest. The Giant nods his head. 'We are close to the north side of the swamp now,' he tells you, 'but the town of Willowbend lies many miles to the west of here. You should travel west.' You thank him and take your leave. Turn to 161.

The Master of Frogs hops down off his mushroom and reaches into the pool. He brings up a handful of water. It does not run between his fingers, but stays in his hand. He moulds it between his fingers and it turns into a Crystal Ball. He gazes into it for a while, murmuring to himself. Then he tosses it back into the pool. 'The plant you seek is directly to the north,' he tells you. 'But the way is not straight, and there are many dangers. Beware of my brother Masters, for not all of them are friendly. And be kind to the Giant.' With those words, he jumps straight up, and vanishes in the trees. The clearing is empty. Turn to 352.

Ahead of you is a clearing. Unlike the last one you found, the ground seems to be solid. This is Clearing 12. If you have been here before, turn to 330. If you have not been here before, keep reading. You see several large flat stones, a huge hollow tree, and two other paths leading out. Will you:

Sit down and rest on a stone? Turn to 21
Investigate the hollow tree? Turn to 55
Leave the clearing immediately? Turn to 390

106

A garrotte drops over your neck from behind. The Thief has fooled you! Luckily, you are much stronger than he is. You loosen his grip and flip him over your shoulder! Escaping from the garrotte has cost you 2 STAMINA points, but you are free. If you attack the treacherous Thief, who is now brandishing a dagger, turn to 267. If you turn and dash down one of the paths, turn to 179.

107

You cast your Curse spell on the closest Brigand. He screams and falls to the ground. His companions rush to his side. Then they, too, scream, and go running north out of the clearing. The fallen Brigand is dead, his features are contorted, he looks as if he has died from an awful disease. Then you feel the effect of the Curse. Roll 1 die and lose that many points of STAMINA. If you are still alive, you can proceed. Turn to 19
108
You re-enter the clearing where you met the Wolves. It is quiet; you see nothing unusual. The bush is still in the middle of the clearing; it has no berries on it now. There is nothing of interest here. You leave and go back southward, towards the Giant's clearing. Turn to 342.

109
He mutters and blusters, but he has seen you fight, and he is not quite angry enough to attack you. Will you:

- Leave with what you have?
  Turn to 349
- Attack him?
  Turn to 124
- Cast a spell?
  Turn to 256

110
You know that the only magic likely to help you against the crawling multitude is a fire spell. Quickly, you cast it. A ring of fire blooms in the grass around your feet. It spreads for a moment and then goes out, but the Scorpions have been driven back. You dash out of the clearing before they can attack you again. Turn to 319.

111
You are unwilling to attack the Mistress of Birds, but you are determined to get what you want. You cast your Friendship spell on her. She laughs. 'Foolish Warrior! Do you not know that a good wizard is a friend to all? You have wasted your spell.' Turn to 184.

112
You are curious about the great nest. If you would like to climb up and examine it, turn to 73. If you would rather leave, turn to 202.
113

It occurs to you that spider-webs are very inflammable. You cast the Fire spell on the Master of Spiders. Instantly his robes catch fire. He screams horribly and falls to the ground. The flame spreads throughout the clearing. Sheets of fire rush up the trees, incinerating the foul creatures that lurk there. The heat is so intense that you abandon any idea of collecting loot. Your only thought is to escape. You lose 3 stamina points due to burns as you rush from the clearing. Turn to 165.

114

You cast the Growth spell on the trees. Maybe they will grow so tall that they will be unable to reach you. You soon realize your mistake. The trees grow more branches and continue their attack. Turn to 28 and fight, but double the stamina of the Sword Trees.

115

The Ranger laughs; he appreciates your honesty. 'Well, then you need to find Willowbend,' he says. 'Go south, then west at the crossing of paths. From there, just stay on the path and you will come to the town. But don't stray off the path!' You thank him and go on. Turn to 234.

116

You do your best to ignore the noise of the roisterers carousing below, but it gets worse. Long after midnight, you fall into a fitful sleep, but you are awakened early the next morning by the sounds of a market-place outside your window. Angrily, you collect your belongings and stalk southward out of town, towards the swamp. Turn to 343.

117

You cast the Friendship spell that you found in the glade of the Unicorn. The Master of Gardens smiles broadly; 'What can I do for you, my friend?' You ask him for his Flower Amulet. He takes it from around his neck and drops it over your head. When it touches you, you are paralysed! He looks deep into your eyes and commands you to tell him the truth about yourself, and you cannot disobey. He shakes his head. 'You are not a bad person, but you serve a bad master. The kindest thing I can do for you is to advise you to be on your guard.' He takes the Amulet back and walks away. Eventually you regain control of your limbs and leave, going west. Turn to 363.
You can see that ahead of you two other paths join yours in a small clearing. You are in Clearing 13. If you have been here before, turn to 303. If you have not been here before, keep reading. You feel a prickling sensation around your Brass Ring. Looking down, you see dozens of small scorpions scuttling towards you. Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 70. If you are Unlucky, turn to 182.

North?  Turn to 170
South?  Turn to 14
East?  Turn to 275
West?  Turn to 218

122
He counters your argument deftly. 'Not only is a mission worth while, my friend, but there is a great deal of strong magic now in Scorpion Swamp. You look like a doughty fighter, and you may have a little magic about you as well, but without the aid of a wizard, I fear that you will never see the sun again if you set foot in the swamp.' You realize that he is sincere. If you want to hear more from this man, turn to 240. If you would prefer to leave and go into the swamp on your own, turn to 296.

123
The sorcerer's eyes widen and he leaps backwards, losing his tall hat and knocking over a vase as he does so. An evil-smelling vapour curls up from the broken vase. The animated statue freezes in its tracks; you have broken the wizard's concentration and spoiled the spell he was using! If you want to press your attack, turn to 225. If you want to flee while he is preoccupied, turn to 315.
The evil wizard is every bit as angry as you are. He plucks his wand from his robes. As he takes up the stance of a swordsman, the wand shimmers and changes into a jagged blade. It glows as he wields it, and you realize that it must be magical. One way or another, this will be the last battle of your adventure!

GRIMSLADE  SKILL 13  STAMINA 18

This is a fight to the death; you may not try to escape. If you kill Grimslade, turn to 340.

---

You have slain the Dire Beast. You cut off a few of its rock-like claws as mementoes of your great battle. You search the clearing for other exits, but find none, so you turn round and leave by the way you came, heading east. Turn to 279.

---

You cast your spell on the Giant while he stands there. Frost forms on his beard and eyebrows, and he shivers for a second. ‘Getting cold around here!’ he rumbles to himself. But he shows no other effect. Turn back to 145 and make another choice.

---

He doesn’t seem like a bad fellow at all; he’s just shy. You decide to try the Friendship spell on him. Instantly, his face lights up. ‘You know, I don’t get many visitors out here,’ he says. ‘I can tell you whatever you need to know — I’m a very powerful wizard! But first, sit down and talk to me.’ You chat for a while with the Master of Frogs, and then bring the subject back to the plant you are seeking. Turn to 104.
Although you are skilful, the Brigand Leader is also a fine swordsman. His blade raps you sharply on the ribs. You have lost. Your opponent, a good sport, congratulates you on a fine fight, and spreads out his own cloak so that you can sit down and rest. 'And now, to settle our little wager,' he says. 'What have I won?' You must give him any one gem, jewel, or magical artefact that you possess. If the only such item you have is your Brass Ring, turn to 180. If you have any other suitable item or items, you may give him whichever one you like (make sure you mark it off on your Adventure Sheet). You part in friendship from the Brigands and go on your way. Turn to 19.

The Parrot fixes you with a beady eye. 'Just walk forward. She knows that you are coming.' You go through a screen of low palm trees, and find yourself in a beautiful glade. Thousands of coloured birds fill the air and the surrounding trees. Great Herons and Eagles stalk about. Seated on a low pedestal in the midst of this splendour is a lovely woman, who you know must be the Mistress of Birds. She greets you by name and asks you your business. You hack at the CRAB GRASS with your sword. The nippers are easy to cut down, but more keep growing up around you. Fight the hungry lawn as though it was a single opponent:

If you Escape, turn to 187. If you cut down the Crab Grass, turn to 81.

135
You search the bodies of the dead Swamp Orcs. Their weapons are of poor quality, and their provisions are too disgusting to touch. However, one of them has a few gold pieces which you add to your store, and another one has a crude map! Comparing it with your own, you soon find your present location, but you learn little that is new. However, directly to the south, there is a picture of a frog with a crown over its head. Turn to 309.

136
You cast the Fire spell on the Master of Gardens, but he waves a hand and deflects the flame. You decide to attack instead. Turn to 379.

137
This is the place where you met the Slime. If you killed it, go to 153. If you did not kill it, it blocks your path as before, and any damage you did to it has been healed. Turn back to 336 and decide how you will deal with it.

138
Ahead of you there is an opening in the trees. You investigate. You are in Clearing 35. You can see the wide Foulbrood River, running east and west. A great stone bridge crosses the river. It looks totally deserted. If you go on to the bridge, turn to 101. If you distrust the bridge and would rather turn around, turn to 45.

139
You decide that this is not for you, and travel back towards the village as fast as you can. The warmth lades from your finger as you put the threatening tower behind you. If you want to go and see the good wizard Selator, turn to 335. If you would rather visit the mysterious Poomchukker, turn to 27.
Your blade sinks deep into his chest. He looks at you in disbelief and starts to speak... then he dies. The jagged blade slips from his fingers. Curious about its strange design, you pick it up. Instantly you realize that it is one of the Magic Swords of great power, which adds 2 to the skill of its user. No wonder he was such a good swordsman! You start to search the rest of the wizard's sinister tower, to see what treasures he might have hidden away... but the air is becoming thick and oppressive. Your ring is still warning you of evil - more, if possible, than before. You smell brimstone. Will you:

Stay and see what you can find? Turn to 375
Return to the village and look for Selator, the good wizard? Turn to 335
Return to the village and seek out the mysterious Poomchukker? Turn to 27

The offer sounds reasonable to you. You reach into your pouch and take out the magical jewels that you did not use. He rings for the serving-girl, and she brings a draught that refreshes you and heals your wounds. Your adventure is over. You did not succeed, but you learned a great deal, and maybe you will conquer the swamp some other day.

You see few signs of the earlier battle. The bodies of the Orcs have gone. A foot-long Scorpion glares at you from a pool as you hurry through the clearing. Turn to 227.

As soon as you enter the clearing, you hear the horrible snorting of the Dire Beast. It failed to eat you before, and now it wants to have another go! If you want to use magic against it, as you did last time, turn to 374. If you want to fight it this time, turn to 176.
You notice that your path is criss-crossed by spiderwebs. There is a clearing ahead. Even before you enter it, you can see that the surrounding trees are thickly festooned with webs, and that there are many spiders there. You are in Clearing 17. If you have been here before, turn to 345. If you have not been here before, keep reading. In the centre of the clearing there is a sumptuous pavilion, which seems to float above the marshy ground. It is silver-grey and it shimmers like woven spider-silk. Seated in the pavilion is a tall man. His thick beard and eyebrows are white, and his robe is as silver-grey as his tent. Around his neck hangs a gleaming silver Spider Amulet. You know that you are in the presence of the MASTER OF SPIDERS. As he regards you from his burning green eyes, you feel your Brass Ring warning you of evil. Will you:

First GIANT FROG SKILL 5 STAMINA 6
Second GIANT FROG SKILL 6 STAMINA 5

Both Frogs will have a separate attack on you in each Attack Round, but you must choose which of the two you will fight. Attack your chosen Frog as in a normal battle. Against the other, even if your Attack Strength is greater you will not wound it. You must just count this as though you have defended yourself against it. However, if its Attack Strength is greater, it will have wounded you in the normal way. If you win, turn to 230.

147
You sit down opposite him. 'What do you do?' you ask. 'Oh,' he answers, 'I rob travellers. When people enter by that path over there, my net falls down and catches them.' He points upward, and your gaze follows his finger. Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 213. If you are Unlucky, turn to 106.

148
You wonder what sort of illusion would be best to fool the Brigands. They are a scruffy-looking lot; they all look as though they could do with a good meal. You smile; you have a good idea. You create an illusion of a fat pig, which wanders out into the clearing and then down a path. The Brigands fall all over themselves in their haste to capture it. They pass your hiding-place without noticing you. You smile and hurry across the clearing. Turn to 19.
149

The clearing is full of brightly coloured birds, but there is no sign of any humans. The Mistress of Birds must have gone elsewhere. You search the clearing but find nothing except feathers. Turn to 217.

150

The street leading to the edge of town is full of little shops, and one sign catches your eye instantly: 'HALICAR DEALER IN POTIONS AND SPELLS'. You go in. Halicar proves to be a pleasant young man. He is a Neutral wizard, and can sell only Neutral spells. You do not have enough Gold Pieces to deal with him, but some of the items that you picked up in the swamp will interest him. You lay them on his table. Each of the following, if you have it, can be exchanged for one magical gem containing a Neutral spell: a Violet Jewel; a Gold Chain; any of the silver Amulets from the Masters; a Golden Magnet or the Horn of a Unicorn. Halicar can sell you no more than three spells. Decide which spells you want, list them on your Adventure Sheet, and mark off the items you traded for them. Then you leave the shop, going south, back into Scorpion Swamp. Turn to 343.

You leave the clearing as quickly as possible. If you go north, turn to 218. If you go west, turn to 65.
The only thing of interest that the Master of Wolves had was his Wolf Amulet. You take it and then go and investigate his hut. Turn to 46.

You sound sincere; Gronar nods and smiles broadly. 'There are those in the world,' he says, 'who seem rough or simple, but always fight for the right. The good Selator is one... and you, Paladin, are another, though you have much to learn.' Somehow, Gronar seems to be much larger now. Is that a cross embroidered on his robes? And where did that sword come from? You start to speak, to ask him who he is, but he reaches across the table and touches your brow. You feel dizzy. 'Bless you, young Paladin. Seek ye Selator.' Then he is gone. You could not tell whether he walked out of the door, or simply vanished... but the dizziness passes quickly, and you feel very good indeed. Raise your Initial Luck score by 2. Turn to 335.

You are breathing heavily, but you are still alive. Your opponent has been reduced to a heap of gravel which is scattered over the floor. You laugh at Grimslade and toss the table leg over your shoulder. It lands with a thump amid the remains of a bookcase knocked over in the fight. Grimslade is eyeing the wreckage of his parlour.

If you were not wounded in the fight, turn to 241. If you were wounded, but lost 5 or less Stamina points, turn to 193. If you lost 6 or more Stamina points in the fight, turn to 326.
The path narrows menacingly. You wonder for a second if you have reached a dead end. Then it becomes wider again. You step into a very small clearing. You are in Clearing 18. If you have been here before, turn to 279. If you have not been here before, keep reading. You see several unusual trees around you. They are dark green and rather small, with snaky limbs. Suddenly you realize that each limb ends in a sword, and they are moving! You are being attacked by the dreaded SWORD TREES! They are all around you now. If you want to fight them with your own sword, turn to 28. If you want to try a magic spell, turn to 203.

You smile broadly and pull a tattered piece of parchment out of your pocket. It is the map you faithfully kept of your journey. Clearly marked on it are the paths on which you travelled and clearings where you fought. Each hazard is indicated. As you explain it to Poomchukker, he is more and more delighted. Finally he claps you on the back — and, although you are strong, you stagger. ‘Wonderful!’
he says. 'Perfect!' He reaches into a drawer and brings out a huge emerald. 'Call it a bonus!' he laughs. 'My first caravan will leave tomorrow. You will be my guest here for as long as you like... and half of my savings for a year are yours, just as I promised.' You smile and thank him. You are pleased to find out that the mysterious Poomchukker is an honourable man; maybe some day you will know him better. But, for now, your quest is a success and your adventure is at an end.

You feel that you have done all you can. Now you must return to your patron and report your success or your failure. Did you undertake your quest for:

It occurs to you that this creature would make a good ally, so you cast the Friendship spell on it. Unfortunately, a Dire Beast has no friends! Its charge does not slacken, and you must fight it. Turn to 176.

You leave the Giant's clearing and continue your journey. Which way will you travel?

He believes your story and starts to chat with you. He tells you that the Masters are a group of powerful wizards. Some are Good, some are Evil, and some are Neutral, but their destinies are tied together by the Amulets they wear. They may fight with one another, but no Master may slay another while he (or she) wears the Amulet. He also tells you that the Amulets grant great power, but only when worn by a wizard. You find this all very interesting, and thank him for his patience. Then you take your leave... but you walk only as far as the beginning of the path. As soon as he can no longer see you, you ponder over your next move. Will you:
- Give up and leave? Turn to 352
- Use an illusion and attempt to steal the amulet? Turn to 245
- Attack him with your sword? Turn to 62
You stride along the path and into the clearing. They are surprised to see you, and even more surprised when you hail them casually and keep on walking. 'Where do you think you're going?' they ask. 'North,' you reply. They are impressed by your coolness. The Brigands are accustomed to demanding payment from passers-by, but they are not murderers. Although they could attack you, the odds would be five to one, they do not feel that would be very sporting. Finally, the leader suggests a solution. You and he will fight. The first one to hit the other will be declared the winner. If the Brigand Leader draws the first blood, you must give him something of value. If you draw first blood, he and his men will let you go. If you agree to this plan, turn to 79. If you will not agree, turn to 353.

The Brass Ring is cold; you know that the Mistress of Birds is a good wizard. You explain your quest and ask for her help. She claps her hands in glee, and for a moment she looks like a young girl. 'Is there really an Antherica bush left?' She is overjoyed. She knows that your quest, if it succeeds, will help the cause of Good everywhere. She gives you a magic potion which restores any one of your scores (you choose which one) to its initial level. Then she motions to you to be silent. She holds out her hands and several small birds fly to her. She talks to them for a time. Then she tells you, 'Selator was right! There is, indeed, a bush of Antherica to the northeast. If you like, I can help you to get there.' You accept gratefully. Turn to 248.
There are only two exits from this clearing. If you go north, turn to 388. If you go south, turn to 105.

The Ranger approves of your bravery. 'Now all you have to do is get out of Scorpion Swamp again. Good luck! Travel south from here, then east, then south again at the Eagle's nest, then west and south, and you will be close to the southern edge of the swamp.' You thank him for his help, making a note of his directions, and leave. Turn to 234.

Few spells seem appropriate for this situation. Will you try:

Neither of these? Turn to 134

This is the clearing where you met the Pool Beast. If you killed it, there is nothing for you to do here; turn to 330. If you did not kill the Pool Beast, it is still waiting, with whatever STAMINA it had when you left it. Turn to 209 and take one of the three choices there.

You use your Illusion spell to create an image of a poisonous snake between yourself and the Orcs. But they do not seem upset. They advance on you ... and when one of the Orcs bends over, smacking his lips, and tries to grab the snake, you know that you picked the wrong illusion. Turn to 281 and fight.
The path is narrow here, and winds about to avoid some huge boulders. It is foggy, and you cannot see far. Suddenly the fog lifts and you see that you have entered another clearing. You are in Clearing 19. If you have been here before, turn to 363. If you have not been here before, continue reading. From the top of a boulder, a man hails you. He is tall and bronzed, dressed all in green, and you know he must be a RANGER. 'Ho, fighter!' he challenges you. 'Do you serve Good or Evil?' Who is your patron?

Grimslade?
Poomchukker?
Selator?

You talk for some time. The Master of Wolves advises you, ‘Take the easy way across the river. Don’t look for traps where none exist.’ He also teaches you a word that you can pronounce when threatened by Wolves, which will make them friendly. Finally you must leave. Turn to 314.

He gives a deep rumbling laugh, and you are certain that you see the bookshelves quiver. He is not at all offended by your reticence. In fact, he is now convinced that you are the fighter he needs. ‘I will tell you my secret,’ he explains. ‘I am not a wizard at all, but merely a merchant from another land. I have bought many powerful spells and artefacts. Thus people believe that I am a mighty magician, and I let them think so because they treat me with more respect.’

You ask what Poomchukker wants in Scorpion Swamp. ‘Information,’ he replies. ‘If I had a map of the path through the swamp, I could send caravans through, and save weeks and weeks of time in my trading. If you can bring me a map showing a clear path to the town of Willowbend, on the north side of Scorpion Swamp, I will pay you half the money that I save during the first year.’ You realize that this could amount to hundreds of gold pieces, but you are still wisely cautious. ‘If you are not a wizard, what magic can you give me to help me survive the swamp?’ you ask. He laughs deeply. ‘I told you that I buy many magic spells. Each of these gems here will let you cast one spell.’ He spills a box of glittering gems on to the table. ‘You may pick any five to take. I do not think you should need that many, but I am generous.’ Turn to the Magic Spells section in the front of the book and pick any five spells... but choose only from the Neutral list, because that is the only sort of spell that Poomchukker has been able to buy. List the spells on your Adventure Sheet.

You shake hands with Poomchukker - his grip is surprisingly strong - and the Goblin girl takes you downstairs. You walk through the busy market and across Fenmarge towards the swamp. Your quest is this: find your way north across the swamp, to the town of Willowbend, and return to Poomchukker with a map. Turn to 9 to start your journey.
You stare coldly at Grimslade over the corpse of his servant. He mutters angrily to himself; he hasn't decided what to do. If you attack him, turn to 225. If you invite him to discuss your business in a civilized fashion, turn to 193.

175
You reach carefully into a pocket and remove the gleaming berry. 'Oh, wonderful!' the old man cries, overjoyed. He plucks it from your hand and carries it out into his garden. Placing it gently in the ground, he begins to hum a spell. Almost instantly, a small plant sprouts..., and grows into a vigorous bush like the one which you saw in the swamp. Blossoms open, filling the air with fragrance, and clusters of purple berries form. Selator plants some of the new berries, and they, in turn, begin to sprout. Then he looks up at you. 'I'm so sorry!' he says. 'I was so happy that I forgot for a moment that you were here. Now these bushes will grow up, and I'll send carrier-birds to my fellow wizards with lots of berries. Soon everyone will have Antherica again, and honour you for it. You have done a great deed this day.' He offers you healing potions and a hot meal, and you accept gratefully. Over dinner, you speak of many things both great and small. Then you are on your way again, feeling well and happy. You have succeeded in your quest.

Your Brass Ring is the only item of value that you have. You are unwilling to give it up, but you feel that you have no honourable alternative. Sorrowfully, you remove it from your finger. The Brigand Leader sees that you are upset, and asks what the problem is. When you explain, he insists that you take the ring back! 'You are truly honest,' he says, 'and it would be a shame to take from you the only thing that you have left, when you need it so much.' He claps you on the back. You have earned the trust and friendship of the Brigands. Turn to 214.

You see the Bear again... and it has already seen you. You must fight it. If you wounded it earlier, it has recovered 1 STAMINA point. Otherwise, it is fresh. Turn to 200.

Before you can react, the Scorpions swarm on to your boots and up your trousers. They begin to sting you. Roll one die and lose that many points of STAMINA. Angrily, you leap over the rest of the Scorpions and leave the clearing. Turn to 319.
As you walk along, the ground becomes rocky and the path slopes upwards. Instead of dismal trees, you see the sky ahead of you! You emerge on top of a high cliff overlooking the murky Foulbrood River. You are in Clearing 20. It is at least twenty metres down to the river, and the cliff is too steep for you to climb down. Below, you can see huge crocodiles sunning themselves in the water. Far to the east you can see a bridge which appears to cross the river, but no trail leads along the riverbank in that direction. Two trails leave the clearing. Will you:

Walk south into the swamp? Turn to 66
Walk west along the river? Turn to 295
Dive into the river and swim north? Turn to 30

You cannot bring yourself to attack her. You tell her about your quest and the evil wizard who sent you. She shakes her head pityingly. 'I should not help you at all,' she says, 'for you are doing the work of an evil wizard. But you are not evil yourself, or you would not have been honest with me.' She ponders for a moment. Then she smiles. 'This is what I will do. I will make a false Bird Amulet. Anyone who sees it will believe it to be a true amulet. Thus, Grimslad will be deceived, and you will not have to trouble my brother wizards. Though, in truth, if you meet the Master of Spiders you should slay him quickly, for he is evil.' She waves her hand, and an Amulet, seemingly the twin to her own, lies in your palm. You thank her for her kindness and leave. Turn to 217.

Luckily for you, he believes your story. 'Well, you are heading in the right direction,' he says. 'Just to the east is the abode of the Master of Gardens, who is a good wizard and very powerful.' You thank him for his information and go on. Turn to 234.

Grimslade scowls, looking at the destruction. Then he shrugs and laughs. 'Let's talk business.' He leads you into another room - then vanishes for a second and reappears, holding several potions. 'Drink these - they'll put you right.' Warily, you study the glinting bottles - then, slowly, you drink one. He laughs at your concern, but you do, indeed, feel better. The bottle was a healing potion. You drink up the rest of the bottles, and conceal your sigh of relief when you find yourself hale and hearty. Your scores are all up to their Initial values now. Turn to 206.

He laughs gleefully. 'Excellent! I knew you would not fail. Give them to me.' Will you hand them over, or ask for your payment first? If you hand them over, turn to 99. If you want your money right now, turn to 207.

You are in Clearing 1. Actually this is no more than a wide spot where three trails meet. The ground is very shaky and wet, and huge insects flit over the pools of water that dot the ground. In the centre of the clearing lies the body of the ous woman. You realize that she must be his wife.

The Giantess looks up at you with tears in her eyes.
She does not threaten you, and you don’t want to

But you feel the hairs on the back of your neck begin to stand up. Something is wrong! Your Brass Ring is warning you of evil. Gronar orders another pitcher of ale and settles back in his chair. 'Selator is the good wizard,' he says. You are seated in Grimslade's study. An ornate mirror hangs on one wall - at least, it looks like a mirror, but the scene it shows is constantly changing. The walls are covered with dusty shelves, full of huge books, odd-looking bottles, strange objects that might be mummified animals, and other weird objects.

'I am a collector,' Grimslade tells you, 'of knowledge and artefacts. Not long ago, something strange happened. Several wizards moved into Scorpion Swamp - wizards whom I know nothing about! Their powers are great but limited, and they seem to be involved with nature. One, I know, controls wolves. Another seems to be a master of plants. My mirror cannot get a clear view of the swamp, but I have spied on them as much as I could. Their powers seem to come from the silver Amulets they wear.'
'Well, what exactly do you want me to do?' you ask. 'And what will you pay me?' He replies, 'I want those Amulets. I want at least three of them; if you can get more, so much the better! I don't care how you get them. I will pay you five hundred gold pieces for each one you bring back.'

'And what magical aid can you give me?' you ask. Grimslade laughs. 'I can make you a wizard - well, almost. I will give you six enchanted Spell Gems - no more. But that should be enough to see you through, considering the sword arm you've shown me.'

You talk with Grimslade about the spells you will use. Refer to the Magic Spells list in the front of the book and pick six spells; you must pick from the Evil and Neutral lists, and not from the Good list. You may choose a spell more than once, as long as the total is six. Write the spells down on your Adventure Sheet.

You take your leave of Grimslade, and head towards the marsh. Scorpion Swamp seems cheery and inviting after the evil wizard's tower! Your quest is this: get the Amulets of at least three of the Masters, and bring them back to Grimslade. Turn to 9 to begin your journey.

Grimslade scowls at you. 'You are clever - insolent, but clever.' Before your watchful eyes, he counts out five hundred gold pieces for each amulet. It takes a while! Finally, he sweeps them into a pouch and hands them over. Turn to 358.

...It seems to become lighter as you walk along. Through the trees above you, you suddenly catch a glimpse of blue sky! A few minutes later, you see an opening in the trees - and when you step through, you realize that you have left the swamp! If you are not ready to leave Scorpion Swamp, you may retrace your steps and walk back the way you came until you reach the first clearing. Turn to 195. If you are ready to return and report the outcome of your quest, turn to 159.
You continue to walk eastward for some time. Ahead, you see a clearing with a small pool. You are in Clearing 25. If you have been here before, turn to 168. If you have not been here before, keep on reading. You walk closer to investigate... and a great, brown, rubbery creature rears up from the pool and lashes at you with a tentacle! You jump backwards. 'My wife made it for me, and I've lost it, and she'll be so upset! I can't find it anywhere, and I can't go home without it!' Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, go to 18. If you are Unlucky, go to 259.
235
You stand with your back to a great tree, so that only one Brigand can approach you at a time. Although there are five of them, only the three largest line up to fight with you.

BRIGAND LEADER
- SKILL: 9
- STAMINA: 10

Second BRIGAND
- SKILL: 8
- STAMINA: 8

Third BRIGAND
- SKILL: 8
- STAMINA: 11

Because you are trapped against the edge of the woods, you cannot escape. If you kill these three Brigands, the other two will flee. Turn to 19.

236
After your journey through the swamp, this is more than you can bear. You rush downstairs, waving your sword, and warn the merry-makers to be quiet—or else! They laugh at you. You walk towards them angrily...and the tavern-keeper brings a chair down on your arm from behind, knocking your sword to the ground. Your arm is bruised; lose 2 skill points. You realize that you cannot fight everyone there. You turn around and go back to your room. Turn to 116.

237
You cast the Wither spell on the Pool Beast, but it has no effect. The beast is an animal, not a plant. Turn to 82 and fight.
238

You are in the glade of the Master of Gardens. It is as beautiful as ever, but there is nobody to be seen. You go back to the west. Turn to 363.

239

You are in the clearing of the Master of Wolves. The hut is locked tightly, and there is no sign of anyone. Turn to 314.

240

You agree with Gronar. Your journey would be much more interesting if you had a mission to accomplish, as well. He nods. 'There are three men in this village now,' he tells you, 'who cannot go into the swamp themselves. But each one has need of a strong fighter willing to venture there. The first of the three is an old wizard devoted to the cause of Good.' He stops to quaff a long draught from his mug. If you want to hear him out, turn to 205. If you want to interrupt him to say that you will serve only Good, turn to 155.

241

Grimslade is impressed with you. He claps you on the back. 'You're the one I've been looking for, truly. Come with me, and we shall discuss how we can make ourselves rich. But first, here's a gift.' He reaches into his robes and withdraws a miniature sword, which grows to full size when he hands it to you. It is a magic sword; add 1 to your skill whenever you use it. As you examine the sword, Grimslade touches you with his wand. If you had used up any luck during your fight, it is now back to its initial level. Turn to 206.

242

As you cross the threshold, you realize that the pouch is not as heavy as it should be - not even by half! After you risked your life for him in the swamp, Grimslade has cheated you. Will you:

- Run back and attack? Turn to 124
- Run back and cast a spell? Turn to 256
- Take what you have and leave? Turn to 358
243
There is nothing to be seen here except for the huge bones of the Dire Beast and a horde of crab-like scavengers feasting on the remains. You do not wish to get too close, so you turn eastwards and leave the clearing. Turn to 279.

244
You describe your quest. The Giant laughs merrily. He tells you that he saw a bush like that not long ago, in a little clearing just to the north. 'But look out for Wolves!' he warns. You thank him and bid him good day. Turn to 161.

245
You cast an Illusion spell on yourself, changing your appearance to that of a medium-sized Frog. You go unnoticed among the other Frogs as you hop across the clearing and behind the mushroom where the Master of Frogs sits. You are unwilling to strike him down, since he was friendly towards you. Instead, you quickly lift the silver Frog Amulet from around his neck. As you do so, you push him into the pool! He splutters and bellows, but his mouth is full of water and he cannot cast a spell. You run for the path. Turn to 352.

246
You search the bodies of the dead Brigands. One of them has a jar of powder. It smells like bitter herbs. If you leave it alone and continue, turn to 19. If you try a little of it on your wounds, turn to 67.

247
You search carefully and find nothing of interest except one unusual bush, growing near the centre of the clearing. It has dense dark-green leaves and white flowers. Near the top of the bush you see one large purple berry. Will you:

Eat the berry? Turn to 20
Pick the berry and save it? Turn to 232
Ignore it and go back south? Turn to 342
248

She gives a strange, piercing cry. It seems to echo among the trees. 'I have just summoned a great Eagle, whom I ride when I travel. He will not carry you like a common steed, but if I command it, he will take you back to his nest, which is on the other side of the Foulbrood River. It will save you many hours of dangerous travelling.' When she finishes speaking, you hear a beating of wings, and an enormous Eagle lands beside you. You cannot understand what she says to it, but abruptly it springs into the air. Its talons clutch you firmly around the waist, and its wings beat thunderously. In an instant the clearing is far below you. The Eagle flies north-east. Below, you see other clearings, and then the wide, greenish expanse of the Foulbrood River. Great crocodiles are visible, and other monsters. Then the Eagle flies down, into a clearing where there is a single tall tree containing a huge nest made out of branches. The Eagle deposits you on the ground and flies away. You are in Clearing 16. Turn to 202.

249

Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, you make it back to the clearing safely. If you are Unlucky, you trip in the darkness and hurt your arm; lose 1 point of skill. You may now leave. If you go south, turn to 336. If you go east, turn to 121.
250
You are in the clearing where you met the Fear Flowers. If you killed them all, turn to 367. If you let them alive, you know that you need to run quickly to get past them without being consumed by terror. Turn to 269.

251
You have slain the Master of Gardens. He was a good wizard and meant no one harm, you begin to regret your deed. Subtract 3 from your Luck. You take the Flower Amulet from around his neck and turn towards the only exit from this clearing, travelling west. Turn to 363.

252
Summoning your courage, you cast a Curse spell on the Giant. What will happen? You see him stagger and roar. He wipes furiously at his eyes. The Giant has been blinded! He staggers past you and falls into the mire. You hurry away before he recovers. Then you feel the spell's effect on you. Roll one die and lose that many STAMINA points. If you are still alive, turn to 161.

253
You drink the potion. Immediately you begin to feel very strange. It was a potion to make you handsome . . . but it was designed for dwarves! For the next hour, you will be somewhat shorter and stockier than usual, and your nose will be very big. After that the effects will wear off. Reduce your Skill by 1, for your next combat only. Turn to 88.

254
You cast the Wither spell at a huge tree on the bank. It falls, forming a bridge by which you quickly cross. As you reach the other side, the tree decays completely and collapses into the stream. You may travel north or south from here. If you go north, turn to 157. If you go south, turn to 398.

255
Grimslade lives by himself in a tower very near the swamp. When you ask for directions, no one wants to talk to you; one old lady makes the sign of the evil eye at you, and a young girl flees. Eventually, a skinny Russian in the market-place gives you directions, and you set off to meet the wizard whom everyone fears. As soon as you see his tower, your Brass Ring begins to get hot. Grimslade is evil — very evil indeed! The feeling grows stronger as you approach the dark, jagged tower, with its strange arches and its gruesome statuary. If you go on up to the door, turn to 40. If you turn back and return to the village, turn to 139.
You are brave - or maybe just foolhardy - daring to cast spells at the evil sorcerer. Which spell will you try?

Curse? Turn to 274
Fear? Turn to 365
Fire? Turn to 385
Illusion? Turn to 351
None of these? Turn to 57

Using spells against a wizard is risky. What spell will you try?

Fear? Turn to 198
Friendship? Turn to 127
Neither of these? Turn to 212 and choose again.

The Brigands jump in fright, but they recover and turn to face you. When they see that you are alone, they are angry. They curse you -- then, in turn, they charge at you. You must fight them. Turn to 235.

You cast the Curse spell on the Mistress of Birds. For a second, it seems to have no effect at all. Then her face hardens. Your Curse has done a terrible thing to her... it has turned her Evil! She screams in anger and waves her hand, and hundreds of birds plunge towards you. Suddenly, the birds fly away. The Mistress of Birds has shaken off your Curse and regained her senses. But it is too late. The last thing you ever behold is her sorrowful face; then you die. Your adventure is over.
'An Evil spell is the best weapon to use against an evil person!' you think, and cast your Curse spell on the Master of Spiders. He screams as the Curse strikes him, and falls writhing to the ground. He seems to move and change; then he rises. The Curse has changed him into one of his own creatures... a giant grey Spider with a human face! Then you feel the effects of the Curse on you. Roll one die and lose that many points of STAMINA. If you are still alive, the Giant Spider attacks you viciously.

GIANT SPIDER  SKILL 8  STAMINA 9

You cannot escape. If you kill the Giant Spider, turn to 354.

'I serve the merchant Poomchukker,' you reply. 'I don’t know if he is very good or very evil. I am trying to make a map of the path through the swamp.' If you have already been to Willowbend, turn to 166. If not, turn to 115.

You recognize the spot where you were attacked by the Crab Grass. If you killed it, turn to 187. If you did not kill it, turn to 33.
264
You cast the Wither spell on the Master of Gardens. Since he is not a plant himself, it has no effect - but he is angry when the spell travels past and kills a tree behind him. He gestures and throws a fire spell at you. Your hair bursts into flame. Quickly, you slap at yourself until the fire goes out; lose 2 STAMINA points from the effect of the burns. Then you attack the Master of Gardens with your sword. Turn to 379.

265
This is the glade where you met the Unicorn, but there is nothing here now. Turn to 348.

266
He tosses you a pouch of gold. You catch it in mid-air and turn on your heel. Sullenly you walk down the dark hallway towards the awful door. Turn to 242.

267
You hear a hiss of anger and the Thief is upon you. He has only a dagger, but he fights viciously.

THIEF
SKILL 10
STAMINA 9

You may not escape, for the Thief is attacking you furiously. If you kill the Thief, turn to 386.

268
You see nothing in the clearing this time except for a few gnawed bones. You hurry on your way. Turn to 390.

269
The fear intensifies as you run away from the Fear Flowers; lose another SKILL point. When you are past the bulk of the flowers, the fear subsides a little. Turn to 367.
270
There are two exits. If you travel north, turn to 275. If you go west, turn to 331.

271
As you pass the Master of Wolves, you draw your sword and slash at him. Lose 1 luck point for this cowardly attack. Then turn to 220 and fight, but subtract 2 points from the Master's stamina.

272
Somehow, you make it back to the village. You are exhausted and soaking wet from falling into a mudhole. Subtract 2 from your luck and give thanks that you are alive at all. After a hot bath at the inn, you feel somewhat better. Seeking out Gronar, you apologize for your earlier impetuousness. He shakes his head and smiles slowly. 'Well, you are strong and lucky, or you would not have come back at all,' he says. Turn to 205.

273
As you hurry along the path towards the village, you feel your brass ring tingling. You look over your shoulder and see a black shape fly from the tower. Quickly, you hide in some bushes. You never make out exactly who or what is searching for you — but eventually you see it return to the tower. You run the rest of the way to the village, arriving panting and bedraggled. You had better pick another patron! If you want to talk to the good wizard Selator, turn to 335. If you want to learn about Poomchukker, the man of mystery, turn to 27.

274
You cast a Curse on the evil wizard . . . the Curse that he gave you himself. He screams and clutches at his throat. Of all spells, his own Curse has the most potent effect on him! He falls to the floor, dead. Then you feel the Curse's effect on you. Roll one die and lose that many points of stamina. If you are still alive, you start to search his sinister tower to see what treasures he might have hidden away . . . but the air is becoming thick and oppressive. Your ring is still warning you of evil — more, if possible, than before. You smell brimstone. If you want to stay for a few minutes and see what you can find, turn to 375. If you choose to leave immediately, turn to 298.
As you walk along, you stumble over a dip in the ground. Looking down, you see that it is actually the half-metre footprint of a huge hobnailed boot!

You are entering clearing 7. If you have been here before, turn to 342. If you have not been here before, keep reading. Rounding the bend, you see a tremendous GIANT! He looks angry, and he brandishes a great spiked club. Your ring is not warning you of evil... but, although the Giant may not be an evil creature, he is obviously dangerous. He bellows at you 'YOU MAY NOT PASS!' Will you:

- Attack him?
  Turn to 12
- Try to reason with him?
  Turn to 229
- Try a magical spell?
  Turn to 145

276

You reach into your pack and offer him the great Violet Jewel that you took from the head of the creature in the pool. He smiles broadly, looking more like a Frog than ever. 'All right,' he says, 'that's a good enough reason for me!' He takes the jewel. Turn to 104.

277

The Unicorn is dead. Knowing that the horn of a Unicorn has great magical powers, you cut off its horn and put it in your pack. If you would like to leave now, turn to 348. If you choose to stay and search the clearing, turn to 86.
278

You want to frighten the Brigands away without hurting them, so you use the Fear spell. A second later, you step out from behind the trees, shouting and waving your sword. The Brigands are terrified. They think you must be part of an invading army, and they scatter, diving into the trees around the clearing. They cower in the mire while you run past them and away. You may go on, unmolested. Turn to 19.

279

To your dismay, the deadly Sword Trees have already grown back! If you want to fight with your sword, turn to 28. If you would prefer to use magic, turn to 203.

280

You follow the path northward. Gradually, it becomes wider and the swamp less dismal. The marsh slowly turns into forest, and before long you see a sign ahead of you: 'THIS WAY TO WILLOWBEND'. If you have been to Willowbend before, turn to 355. If you have not been here before, keep on reading. A few minutes later you hear human voices and meet a party of Foresters. You walk with them to the town of Willowbend. After your adventures you only want to find an inn and get a good night's sleep. The Foresters tell you that there are three inns in Willowbend. Will you go to:

- The Black Bear? Turn to 395
- The Bent Spear? Turn to 78
- Tancred's Flying Horse? Turn to 289

281

You charge the Swamp Orcs. They are surprised at your bravery, but they drop their bows and grasp their own weapons. You are fortunate that they are not skilled fighters, because they all attack you at once.

First SWAMP ORC | SKILL 6 | STAMINA 7
Second SWAMP ORC | SKILL 7 | STAMINA 7
Third SWAMP ORC | SKILL 6 | STAMINA 5

Each Swamp Orc will have a separate attack on you in each Attack Round, but you must choose which of the three you will fight. Attack your chosen Orc as in a normal battle. Against each of the other two you must throw for your Attack Strength in the normal way, but even if your Attack Strength is greater you will not wound it. You must just count this as though you have defended yourself against its blow. However, if its Attack Strength is greater, it will have wounded you in the normal way. If you win, turn to 135.
282
You cast the Ice spell on the Slime. Instantly you know you made the right choice; the Slime is a creature of water, and the spell freezes it solid. It is dead. Turn to 36.

283
The Master of Gardens is delighted. You promise to ask Selator to send him some Antheria berries, and you describe the path to the place where you found the bush. He gives you a magic gem containing one Good spell (you choose the type). Then you resume your travels. There is only one path leading from this clearing; you take it, going back to the west. Turn to 363.

284
As the sorcerer laughs, his stony creature shuffles towards you. You realize that your sword will be of little use against a creature made of living rock. Thinking quickly, you bring your sword down on the wizard's table, instead! Your blade cleaves the wood, cutting off one of the table's legs. You scoop up the improvised club, dropping your sword, and face the statue with this much more appropriate weapon. Grimslade, impressed by your strength and quick wits, has stopped his evil laughter, and watches attentively as you fight.

GOBLIN STATUE  SKILL 7  STAMINA 6
If you destroy the Statue, turn to 156. If the fight goes against you, you may Escape; turn to 375.

The wicked mage is furious, and decides to exterminate you right then and there. 'Prepare to die, insolent worm!' He waves his hand and casts a spell of weakness on you. Cut your STAMINA in half. You must fight now, or die. If you want to attack with your sword, turn to 124. If you try to use magic against the wizard, turn to 256.
Suddenly, you have an idea. You almost laugh out loud, but you don't want to offend the poor Giant. You reach into your pack and pull out the Red Cloak. 'Is this your handkerchief?' you say, offering it to him. The Giant seize it joyfully. 'Where did you get it?' he asks. You tell him about your meeting with the Thief. He must have been the one who stole it from the Giant! The Giant is crying again, but now with tears of happiness. He swears he will be your friend forever. 'Why have you come here?' he asks. 'Is there any way I can help you?' You tell him about your quest. Are you serving:

Selator? Turn to 244
Grimslade? Turn to 317
Poomchukker? Turn to 103

He does not seem dangerous, but you are not sure whether you should tell him your true quest. If you tell him you have come to collect the Amulets belonging to the wizards of the swamp, turn to 198. If you make up a story, go to 359.

Your ring is cold; you know that the Mistress of Birds is a good wizard. Around her neck you see the silver Bird Amulet you have been sent to steal. Will you:

Attack her? Turn to 391
Ask if she will give you the Amulet? Turn to 184
Cast a spell? Turn to 130

The Foresters said that Tancred's Flying Horse was the least costly of the inns, so you go there. Indeed, they offer you lodging for only half a gold piece. You go upstairs to your room and fall asleep as soon as your head hits the pillow. In the middle of the night you are awakened by a burning sensation on your finger. The Brass Ring is warning you of evil! You leap from your bed, grabbing your sword, and a shadowy figure flees from the room. Barrimg the door, you go back to bed. You awake the next morning, feeling rested; regain 2 stamina points. But you find that the Thief you frightened away had stolen some of your belongings. Lose any two magical gems, artefacts, or other items, except your Brass Ring. Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 150. If you are Unlucky, you simply stalk southward out of town, towards the swamp. Turn to 343.
You can see signs that others have walked this way recently. Ahead is another clearing. This is Clearing 26. If you have been here before, turn to 323. If you have not been here before, keep reading. As you enter the clearing, an arrow whizzes past your head. You see three mangy-looking SWAMP ORCS armed with bows. The other two let their arrows fly. If you have the Golden Magnet charm, turn to 83. If you do not have it, turn to 151.

You cast the Fire spell on the Pool Beast, but the creature is slimy and wet. It does not burn at all! Turn to 82 and fight.

You explain your quest to the Master of Gardens. He shakes his head sadly and removes the Flower Amulet from around his own neck, and places it around yours. When it touches you, you are paralysed! He looks deep into your eyes and commands you to tell him the truth about yourself, and you cannot disobey. He shakes his head. 'You are not a bad person, but you serve a bad master. The kindest thing I can do for you is to advise you to be on your guard.' He takes the Amulet back and walks away. Eventually you regain control of your limbs and leave, going west. Turn to 363.
293
You cast the Fear spell on the Unicorn. It whinnies and turns quickly. In a moment it is lost from sight. Turn to 348.

294
You cast the Friendship spell on the Master of Wolves, and wait anxiously. Will it work? Suddenly, he starts to laugh. 'Come in! Come in!' He ushers you into his home, and the Wolves stand aside. If you would like to launch a surprise attack, turn to 271. If you follow him and talk to him, turn to 172.

295
You find yourself in a small opening on the bank of the Foulbrook River. You are in Clearing 33. The opposite bank is at least two hundred metres away. You see crocodiles and other creatures in the water. Will you:

Walk east along the river bank?
Turn to 183

Turn to the south?
Turn to 94

Cast an Ice spell to freeze the river?
Turn to 89

296
Bravely you strike out into the swamp. But, though you are brave, you are also very foolhardy. Though the magic of your Brass Ring stops you getting lost, you are soon tired and wounded, harried by creatures both familiar and strange. You realize that without more magical aid you have little hope of escaping from the swamp, and no chance at all to learn its secrets. Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 272. If you are Unlucky, turn to 3.

297
As you flee, you hear a rushing sound. You turn, to see Grimsdale coming up behind you on a flying carpet. You whirl round, raising your sword. Too late! He has cast a Strength spell upon himself. He catches you by the scruff of your neck and carries you into the air. You scream as the carpet rises higher. Then he drops you. You fall down, down . . . Then everything goes black. Your adventure is over.
298

You hurry out of the room, down the dim hallway and through the awful door. Soon the tower of evil is behind you. You fought against men and animals, you risked your life... and for what? An evil wizard is a dangerous and ungrateful master. And you realize that you were lucky to escape from Grimsdale's clutches so lightly. At least you still have your life! You know that, though your quest was misguided, you have done the world a service by ridding it of the evil wizard. You resolve that in the future you will be more careful about whom you serve. Your adventure is over.

299

You decide to try casting a Fear spell. Perhaps fear will make the creature turn aside. Quickly you cast the spell. The effect is amazing! The Dire Beast skids to a halt - then, whimpering piteously, it runs to the other side of the clearing and hides behind the boulders. If you go and attack it there, turn to 176. If you would rather turn and leave by the path on which you entered, turn to 279.

300

There is no sign of the huge Giant; he must have left. You continue your journey. Turn to 161.

301

There are two Brigands resting in the clearing, which seems to be their meeting-place. When they see you, they scramble to their feet and attack. You must fight them both.

First BRIGAND  SKILL 8  STAMINA 10
Second BRIGAND  SKILL 8  STAMINA 11

Both Brigands will have a separate attack on you in each Attack Round, but you must choose which of the two you will fight. Attack your chosen Brigand as in a normal battle. Against the other, even if your Attack Strength is greater you will not wound him. You must just count this as though you have defended yourself against his blow. However, if his Attack Strength is greater, he will have wounded you in the normal way. You may try to Escape at any time. If you escape, turn to 19. If you kill the two Brigands, turn to 246.
302
You pronounce the mystic word taught to you by the Master of Wolves. The great beasts fawn upon you, their tongues lolling out. You scratch them behind the ears and command them to lie down. Turn to 247.

303
You have returned to the clearing where you met the horde of Scorpions. You look around anxiously to see whether they are still about. Yes... there they are, coming towards you from all sides! You are ready for them this time. Turn to 70.

304
As you continue north, the swamp seems to change in character. It becomes less gloomy, and more like a tropical jungle. Brightly coloured birds flit through the trees. This is Clearing 14. If you have been here before, turn to 149. If you have not been here before, keep reading. Ahead of you, on a low branch, sits a huge red and yellow Parrot. As you come nearer, it speaks to you! 'Who are you, and what is your business with the Mistress of Birds?' it asks. Will you:

Attack the Parrot?
Ask to meet its mistress?

Turn to 72
Turn to 131
The eastward path is well tended; the trees and bushes do not grow across the trail, but are trimmed back. Before long you reach a pleasant clearing. You are in Clearing 27. If you have been here before, turn to 238. If you have not been here before, keep reading. Everywhere different sorts of plants are growing... some are flowering, and they all look healthy and attractive. The entire glade looks too beautiful to be natural, and too natural to be a garden. As you look around, a middle-aged man approaches you. He is tall and broad-shouldered, and he wears work-stained clothes. But you know from the silver Flower Amulet around his neck that he is no labourer, but the MASTER OF GARDENS. Your Brass Ring tells you that he is friendly. Are you serving:

Selator?  Turn to 36
Poomchukker?  Turn to 84
Grimslade?  Turn to 334

The Ranger is angrily waiting there. While you were gone, he cast the STAMINA spell on himself and regained all his STAMINA points. You must fight him again. Turn to 378.

You cast your Fire spell on the Fear Flowers. Many of them are burnt, but many more are unharmful. You must try to escape. Turn to 269.
At last the Pool Beast is dead. You use your sword to cut the great Violet Jewel from its forehead. Then you leave the clearing. The only exit takes you back to the west. Turn to 330.

You have a choice of three exits from this clearing. Will you go:

North? Turn to 47
South? Turn to 53
West? Turn to 388

You cast the Fire spell on the Crab Grass. It is not dead, but it draws back, giving you a chance to leave safely. Turn to 187.

The Slime clutches at you, and its touch burns like acid. You scramble back. The burns reduce your skill by 2. If you run back the way you came, turn to 85. If you want to fight, turn to 171.

The Giant Scorpion lifts its claws menacingly. It is not badly wounded. Evidently the Dwarf was not a very skilled fighter.

GIANT SCORPION SKILL 9 STAMINA 10

If you decide to Escape, turn to 88. If you kill the Giant Scorpion, turn to 324.

The river is warm, and you see your chunk of ice melting away beneath you. All too soon it falls apart. You grab your sword and swim desperately for the river-bank, but your gear is too heavy. You sink to the bottom, choking on the river slime. Your adventure is over.

You have two choices. If you go north, turn to 90. If you go east, turn to 195.
315

Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 51. If you are Unlucky, a section of flooring opens in front of you, and you fall into the hole. When you wake up, you find that you are bound by heavy chains. Grimslade is smiling at you, but it is not a pleasant smile. You shudder to see what he is holding in his hand. Your adventure is over.

316

Unfortunately, you have none of the magical gems left to trade. 'Too bad,' he says. 'I would like to help you, but healing draughts are expensive, and I have already lost enough on this enterprise.' If you would like to leave now, turn to 100. If you are angry enough to attack Poomchukker, turn to 341.

317

You describe your quest. The Giant scratches his head thoughtfully. He has heard of the wizards called the Masters, but he has had no dealings with them. When you describe them in more detail, though, he says, 'I once saw a beautiful garden in the middle of the swamp... north of here and a little to the west, but there is no direct path. Perhaps that clearing belongs to the Master of Gardens?' You thank him and leave. Turn to 161.

318

'Maybe they can help me,' you think, and cast the Friendship spell on their leader. Then you step out and greet them. A couple of the Brigands want to rob you, but their leader stops them, saying that he likes your looks. He asks if there is any way in which he can help you. Turn to 214.

319

Hurriedly, you choose an exit. Will you go:

North? Turn to 138
East? Turn to 47
West? Turn to 66
The path dips slightly downwards and leads into a grassy clearing. This is Clearing 29. If you have been here before, turn to 265. If you have not been here before, keep on reading. In the middle of the clearing lies a white creature. At first you think it is a horse, but when it turns to face you, you realize that it is a UNICORN. It appears to be wounded; great claw marks score its flank. But it gets to its feet and lowers its horn at you, snorting a challenge. Will you:

Run away? Turn to 368
Fight it? Turn to 221
Cast a spell? Turn to 119

Perhaps, you think, you can reach the bridge by swimming down the river – or maybe you will find a trail you can take east. It is a long way down, so you prepare for it carefully. Turn to 30.

The Wither spell turns the Crab Grass as dry as dust. You knock down the dead stalks. Turn to 81.

You are in the clearing where you met the Swamp Orcs. If you slew them, turn to 309. If you did not slay them, turn to 281 and fight them as they were when you escaped from them.
324
The monster is dead. You look at the Dwarf. He does not seem to be breathing. Will you:

Leave the clearing immediately? Turn to 88
Use a Bless spell on the Dwarf? Turn to 383
Search the body of the Dwarf? Turn to 42

325
You dash across before the bridge can melt. You're too slow! You see it dissolving beneath you, breaking into sections. If you have another Ice spell, turn to 369. If not, turn to 43.

326
He looks at the broken table, the scattered books, the smashed crockery... the wreckage of the Statue, strewn across the floor... and then he looks again at you. His face twists with anger and disdain. 'Why should I bother with you?' he asks. 'You were barely good enough to defeat one little Statue, and you've wrecked my parlour.' Will you:

Crawl to his feet to apologize? Turn to 98
Turn and run? Turn to 315
Remind him that he was the one who wanted to stage a battle in his parlour in the first place? Turn to 225

327
He is much more dangerous than you had guessed. Who would have thought that such a fat and funny-looking man could fight so well? You turn and dive out of the window, hoping to escape. Alas, a crowd has gathered below. Your fall knocks the breath from your body. Before you can recover, two burly guards have tied your hands behind your back. You will spend a long time in the dungeons for your treachery. Your adventure is over.

328
The Giant does not seem such a bad fellow; he is just angry about something. You cast your Friendship spell. The Giant shakes his head. Then he laughs and tosses his club to the ground. 'What am I saying?' he asks. 'It's not your fault! I'm sorry, forgive me; I was angry about someone else. What brings you here? If I can help you, I will.' Happy that your spell avoided bloodshed, you tell him of your quest. Are you serving:

Selator? Turn to 244
Grimslade? Turn to 317
Poomchukker? Turn to 103
The clearing where you met the Master of Frogs is empty. In the dim light, you see a faint glow coming from the mushroom where he had been resting. You examine it closely. It seems different from the others. You notice human teeth-marks along one edge of the mushroom. You sniff it; it smells good. You can eat a little of the mushroom; turn to 178. Or you can leave and head north once again; turn to 352.

You are in the clearing with the great hollow log. If you saw a creature here earlier, turn to 129. If you did not see what lived in the log, turn to 268.

You are back in the clearing where the great Eagle nested. All you see is the old tree and the nest. If you fought the Eagle turn to 202. If you did not fight the Eagle, turn to 112.

Ignoring the warning signal from your ring, you speak to the Master of Spiders in a friendly fashion. He answers very politely, asking you your business. As you start to reply, you feel a sharp pain at the back of your neck. The Master of Spiders laughs gleefully. You spin around, and see a black spider, as big as your hand, dangling behind you. As its poison courses through your veins, you slump to the ground, unable to move. You see the Master of Spiders rummaging through your pack to see what loot he has captured. Then you feel yourself seized from behind. You are dragged up a tree, coated with spider-silk, and left to hang. In a week or two you will make a tasty meal for the spiders. Your adventure is over.

'I have studied plant lore,' replies the Ranger, 'and I have heard of that plant, but I did not know it grew here. If you go east, you will find the abode of a good wizard called the Master of Gardens. If anyone knows where it grows, it will be him.' You thank him and go on. Turn to 234.

Around the neck of the Master of Gardens you see one of the Amulets you have been sent to find. Will you:

- Attack him with your sword? Turn to 379
- Cast a magic spell? Turn to 152
- Talk to him peacefully? Turn to 37
Ducking under a heavy cast-iron lantern, you leave the tavern. The light is unexpectedly bright outside, and you blink for a moment in the glare. You start off down the road, but realize you don’t know where you are going. Hailing an old man who is leaning out the window of his shop, you ask where you might find the good wizard Selator. The shop-keeper is suspicious at first, but soon warms to you and gives you directions. Soon you are lost again, but a ruddy-cheeked woman sets you right. It seems that everyone knows where Selator lives! Eventually, you come to a small house on the edge of the village. Selator, a small, stout man in a white tunic and linen breeches, is pottering in his garden as you come up the path. You tell your story. He smiles, and asks how you think you can get through the uncharted swamp. If you tell him about your ring, turn to 371. If you would rather keep it a secret, turn to 96.
You are in a particularly marshy area. The ground squishes under your feet. The path bends slightly and runs alongside a large pool. You can see that there is one other exit from this clearing. You are in Clearing 28. If you have been here before, turn to 137. If you have not been here before, keep reading. The surface of the pool ripples nastily, and green slime coats the water. You would never drink out of this pool, you are sure! Suddenly the scum on top of the pool seems to pull together. To your amazement, it heaves itself out of the water and on to the path, blocking your way. It is a viscous lump of SLIME, two metres wide, which gives off a fetid odour as it oozes slowly towards you. Will you:

Run away? Turn to 85
Try to jump over it? Turn to 257
Attack with your sword? Turn to 171
Use a magic spell? Turn to 400

You cast the Fire spell on the Unicorn. Its mane blazes briefly, but the Unicorn's own magic soon negates the spell. You must fight. Turn to 221.

You recognize the clearing where you met the Scorpion and the Dwarf. There is nothing left now but a few scraps of bone and leather armour. Turn to 88.

As the bridge breaks up, you climb on to the largest piece you can find. It forms a sort of boat on which you float eastward down the river. Both banks are covered by thick jungle. Then, ahead of you, you see a huge, old bridge made of stone! If you try to catch it and climb up as you float beneath, turn to 384. If you would rather float along and look for another means of escape, turn to 313.

Your blade sinks deep into his chest. He looks at you in disbelief and starts to speak... then he dies. The jagged blade slips from his fingers. Curious about its strange design, you pick it up. Instantly you realize that it is one of the Magic Swords of great power, which adds 2 to the SKILL of the user. No wonder he was such a good swordsman! You start to search the rest of the wizard's sinister tower, to see what treasures he might have hidden away... but the air is becoming thick and oppressive. Your ring is still warning you of evil - more, if possible, than before. You smell brimstone. If you want to stay for a few minutes and see what you can find, turn to 375. If you would rather leave immediately, turn to 298.

His casual attitude towards you, after you risked your life on his mission, is more than you can bear. You draw your sword and attack. He is surprised, but dodges your first blow, moving very nimbly for a man of his great bulk. He plucks a sword from behind his desk and defends himself well. You soon realize that he is a dangerous opponent.

POOMCHUKKER  SKILL 9  STAMINA 14

His back is to the door, so if you want to Escape, you must dive out of the window. To do that, turn to 327. Otherwise, when you reduce Poomchukker's stamina to 6 or less, turn to 372.

342

You recognize the clearing where you met the mighty Giant. If you killed the Giant, turn to 197. If you did not kill him, turn to 300.

343

You see that you are approaching the spot where you first met the Brigands. If you parted from them in friendship, turn to 199. If you fled from them, tricked them, or killed some of them, turn to 301.

344

The Wolves flatten their ears and whine; then they slink away. Turn to 247.

345

As you approach the spot where you defeated the evil Master of Spiders, you begin to feel very hot. Entering the clearing, you see it is full of roaring flames. You cannot pass. Lose one stamina point from the effect of the choking smoke. Turn to 165 and leave the clearing by the same path on which you entered.
346

You cast the Fear spell on the Swamp Orcs. One of them screams and dropping his weapons, flees into the marsh. The other two advance on you. Turn to 281 and fight these two.

347

You cast an Illusion spell, making yourself look like a plant. The Master of Gardens is astounded! He starts to walk towards you. When he gets closer you try to snatch his Amulet, but the motion breaks the spell, and the Master of Gardens jumps away. If you attack him with your sword, turn to 379. If you flee from the clearing, turn to 363.

348

There are four exits. Will you go:

North? Turn to 94
South? Turn to 157
East? Turn to 10
West? Turn to 204

You shrug your shoulders and walk out of the room, down the dim hallway and through the awful door. Ahead of you lies the village. Behind you lies the tower of evil. You fought men and animals, you risked your life... and for what? Evil, it seems, is a dangerous and ungrateful master. And you realize that you were lucky to escape so lightly from Grimslade's clutches. You still have your life! You resolve that in future you will be more careful about whom you serve. Your adventure is over.
You are in a clearing where one huge tree rises from the hard, bare ground. In the tree is a gigantic nest made of sticks. You are in Clearing 16. If you have been here before, turn to 331. If you have not been here before, keep reading. You stop to look at the great nest. Then you hear a rushing of wings behind you. A huge EAGLE is hovering over the clearing, watching you. Do you have:

Some Parrot Feathers? Turn to 392
A silver Bird Amulet? Turn to 25
Neither of these? Turn to 233

You are reluctant to use one of Grimsdale's own spells against him; it might be dangerous. Instead, you cast an Illusion spell - or you try to. Grimsdale waves his hand and you feel the spell wavering and dying before it begins to take shape. 'You cannot deceive me with those childish tricks!' he sneers. 'Prepare to die, fool.' Turn to 124.

The only exit from the clearing is the path you took to get there. You travel north, towards the place where a short time ago you fought the Swamp Orcs. You grasp your sword, in case you have to fight again. Turn to 323.
353
You have gravely offended the Brigands. They felt they were giving you a fair chance to prove yourself, but you would not agree to settle the matter honourably. Now you will have to fight all of them. Turn to 235.

354
Withdraw your sword from the body of your evil foe, you sigh with relief. But all around you the Spiders are lurking, they start drawing closer and closer. You bend down and take the Spider Amulet from the body. When you pull it free, a spark seems to jump from it. Suddenly, the body bursts into flames! You leave hurriedly. Behind you, the flames are spreading, and you hope they will wipe out the evil Spiders as well. Turn to 165.

355
The trail towards Willowbend is now familiar. But when you enter the town again, something seems different. You feel people are watching you, and you hear whispering voices. You realize that the tale of your exploits has become common knowledge. You feel uneasy about the greedy glances cast in your direction. As you turn into a side street, you are aware that you are being followed. You turn, and two ragged CUTPURSES set upon you, hoping to steal the treasure they are sure you have brought back from the swamp. There is no time for magic and nowhere to run to, you must fight them.

356

You cast the Fear spell on the Pool Beast, but it does no good. The creature is too stupid to know the meaning of fear. It attacks you. Turn to 82.

These two arrows are also badly aimed... but they turn in flight and hit you in the chest! Lose 5 points of STAMINA. If you are still alive, you realize that the Golden Magnet charm you took from the dead fighter is actually cursed! It attracts arrows — it was the undoing of its last owner, and it has nearly killed you. The Orcs are reaching for more arrows. Will you:

Attack with your sword? Turn to 282

You take the money he has given you, and leave. But you wonder... did you do the right thing? You fear your money is tainted, but you know that you can do nothing about it. Next time you go wandering you will be more careful about whom you serve. Your adventure is over.

You doubt that the Master of Frogs would be as friendly if he knew your true mission, so you make up a story. 'I am in the service of Sukumvit, Baron of Fang,' you say. 'He has sent me to Scorpion Swamp to seek out new beasts for his Deathtrap Dungeon. When I came to the village outside the swamp, I heard talk about the Masters, and I vowed to learn more. Who are you, and why did you come here?' Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, turn to 362. If you are Unlucky, turn to 16.

'Well struck!' cries the Brigand Leader, clutching his arm where your blade nicked him. 'That was a good fight.' One of his companions binds up his wound, while another offers you water from his own flask. You all laugh and joke as though you are old friends. Turn to 214.

You cast your Friendship spell. The Master of Spiders looks startled for a moment, then smiles. 'Ah... I see that you are friendly!' he says. You smile in return and begin to tell him about your quest. Then you feel a sharp pain at the back of your neck. The Master of Spiders laughs gleefully. You spin around, and see a black spider, as big as your hand, dangling behind you. As its poison courses through your veins, you slump to the ground, unable to move. You see the Master of Spiders rummaging through your pack to see what loot he has captured. Then you feel yourself seized from behind. You are dragged up a tree, coated with spider-silk, and left to hang. In a week or two you will make a tasty meal for the spiders. Your adventure is over.

You skilfully wield your mighty sword. The Sword Trees are no match for your prowess, and soon each reaching limb has been lopped off. You look around the clearing. You find nothing except a few seeds that look as though they might have come from the Sword Trees. You pocket them and go on. Turn to 22.
You return to the clearing where you met the Ranger. Did you:
Part from him in friendship? Turn to 133
Slay him? Turn to 234
Fight him and flee? Turn to 306

364
You are once again in the clearing with the healing pool. As you walk towards it, an arrow zips by your head—then another. You cannot see where they are coming from. You run back along the path the way you came. Turn to 47.

365
You decide that a Fear spell will give you your best chance in the battle ahead. You cast it on Grimslake, but he waves his hand and it rebounds on to you! The icy hand of terror grips your heart. Lose 1 skill point. Turn to 124.

366
You have defeated the Giant. You search the huge body, but find nothing of value except his huge brass-bound club, which is too big for you to carry. Turn to 161.

367
There are two exits from the clearing. If you want to go north, turn to 304. If you want to go east, turn to 265.

368
You must leave by the same path you took to reach this clearing. Turn to 348 and take that path.
369
You realize that even with another Ice spell, the bridge will not hold you. Instead, you cast the spell beneath you, forming a chunk of ice on which you float eastward down the river. Both banks are covered by thick jungle. Then, ahead of you, you see a huge old bridge made of stone! If you try to catch it and climb up as you float beneath, turn to 384. If you would rather float along and look for another means of escape, turn to 313.

370
The Ice spell creates a solid bridge which you can cross easily. You may travel north or south from here. If you go north, turn to 157. If you go south, turn to 398.

371
He nods. 'Yes, you are the one I have been waiting for. You can do what must be done.' He smiles at you, and you feel very proud indeed. I will tell you about the quest. Once upon a time, there grew a plant called Antherica. It had many healing properties, and was of great value to the makers of white magic. But it was of no value in Evil spells, and so the forces of Evil set out to destroy the plant everywhere. It was thought that they had succeeded. But, through my studies and my crystal ball, I have learned that a single plant of Antherica survives, deep in Scorpion Swamp. It is a small dark-green bush, with sweet-smelling white flowers and purple berries. If you can bring me back just one of those berries, through my magic I can cause the Antherica to bloom again for white magicians everywhere.

'There is plenty of treasure to be found in the swamp,' the little wizard goes on, 'and you may keep all you win. All I need is a single berry of Antherica. But, although a fighter like you is well fitted to survive in the swamp, there are magic forces there against which a sword is of little use. I cannot teach you magic, but I can do the next best thing. I can give you six magic gems. Each of these will contain one magic spell, but when you have used them all, you must rely on your keen sword and your sharp wits.'
You discuss with Selator which spells you should choose. You may pick six spells from the Magic Spells listed at the front of the book — but only from the lists of Neutral and Good spells. You may not pick any Evil spells! Write down your chosen spells on your Adventure Sheet.

With the Spell Gems tucked safely in your pouch, you say farewell to Selator and strike off towards the swamp. Although your trip will be dangerous, you are buoyed up by the old wizard's wisdom and kindness. Your quest is this: find an Antherica berry and bring it back to Selator. Turn to 9 and begin your adventure.

You hear shricks from below. The Goblin serving-maid is calling for help. 'Guards! He is killing the master! Come quickly!' While you are calculating your chances, a door bursts open behind Poom-chukker, and three guards in red chainmail run into the room with crossbows at the ready. They do not wait for orders, but fire at you immediately. The darts pierce your chest, and you sink to the floor. Your adventure is over.

373
Test your Luck. If you are Lucky, you attack so quickly that you wound the wizard. Turn to 225, but subtract 2 points from your foe's STAMINA before you start. If you are Unlucky, your first blow misses; turn to 225 and fight normally.

You ignore the awful odour and search the tower, humming happily to yourself as you stuff books and gold statues into a sack. Suddenly you hear a hissing sound. You spin around, and see a great black shadow. Two slitted, glowing eyes regard you from the darkness. 'Thank you, mortal,' says the hissing voice. 'I have waited a long time for his soul. Now it is mine.' You flee in fear as the shadow hovers over Grimslane's body. But you don't have time to escape. You have not yet reached the front door when the smell of brimstone becomes unbearable. Then the entire tower glows red-hot and explodes. Your adventure is over.

You tell him that you are only trying to get to Willowbend and back. A look of surprise appears on his froggy face. 'Willowbend lies far to the north and west,' he says. 'You seem like a nice sort, though, so I will tell you something. Do not follow the Will-o'-the-wisp, or your life will be forfeit. Now, goodbye, I have work to do.' Abruptly, he vanishes. His Frogs croak loudly and hop away. You look around the clearing, but find nothing at all; the only path leads back to the north. You turn around and head back towards the place where you met the Swamp Orcs. Turn to 323.

You do not want to attack the injured Unicorn; you have always heard that they are good creatures. You cast the Bless spell, instead. The creature quivers as the spell strikes it. Then it whinnies joyfully. The wounds along its side are almost healed, and the Unicorn is much stronger. It is still reluctant to approach a human, but it walks over to the side of the clearing and digs at the ground with its horn. Then it looks at you and walks away. You look at the ground where it had been digging. There are two Magic Gems there, like the ones Selator gave you. You recognize one as a Friendship spell and one as a spell to restore LUCK. You are certain the Unicorn can understand you as you thank it and go on your way. Turn to 348.
382
You realize you are in the clearing with the pool of Quicksand. You will not blunder into it unprepared this time! You have thought of several things you can do. If you use an Ice spell, you can freeze the Quicksand and walk across, but the ice will quickly melt behind you. If you use a Growth spell, you can make the vines around the pool grow and give you a safe path, both now and at any time you return to this clearing! 384
You have no trouble scaling the side of the old bridge. The huge blocks of stone have wide cracks between them, which make it easy to climb. You draw yourself up and over the bridge's railing and jump down on to it. Turn to 101.
